Apprehension closes 6-year search

By STEPHEN BJORK

WILMINGTON - One of Wilmington's 'Most Wanted' has been taken into police custody in Georgia. He will soon be on his way back up north to faces charges, including attempted murder, in connection with a six-year old shooting that took place on Jewel Drive. Last Friday, Wilmington Police were advised that Bjorn Hewitt, 26, of Georgia, had been arrested by US Marshalls in Stone Mountain, Dekalb County, Georgia. "Hewitt had been the subject of an international search following a shooting that occurred in Wilmington in June of 2000," Wilmington Police Lt. Christopher Neville said.

Knowing what to do following an accident proved crucial to Wilmington youth

By JAYNE W. MILLER

WILMINGTON - Two weeks ago the Barry family experienced the scare of a lifetime after a diving accident at Plum Island left 17 year old Michael without feeling in his arms and legs. Fortunately, quick thinking and calm reactions limited Michael's spinal cord injury. Michael, and his three brothers, Tommy, 16; Richard, 14; and Patrick, 11, were swimming in the waters of Plum Island, enjoying the sandbars,

Another route to Woburn

Romney veto of funds for New Boston Street Bridge reconstruction project overridden

By JIM HAGGERTY

WOBURN - The reconstruction of the New Boston Street Bridge, which connects Wilmington and Woburn, is back on schedule.

State Senator Robert Havern (D-Arlington) informed Woburn Mayor Thomas McLaughlin, and other Woburn city officials on Monday, that the Mass. Senate has overridden Governor Mitt Romney's veto of the New Boston Street Bridge reconstruction.

For decades, the New Boston Street Bridge was an easy access between the industrial park and commercial areas of the two communities.

The New Boston Street Bridge was abandoned following a fire in the 1970s. The Town of Wilmington had opposed its reopening since that time due to traffic concerns. The opening of the new Interstate 93 interchange situated between Route 128 and Route 129, however, has alleviated those concerns for the majority of the Wilmington Board of Selectmen. Opening the bridge now is seen as a way to take pressure off of Main Street (Route 38) in North Woburn and Wilmington.

Although the bridge is located

Nick Bruce directed fellow campers as Heather Trites and Christopher Keeley can be seen in the background. Heather and Christopher made up one of the three teams engaged in an exercise promoting the value of teamwork at Camp 40 Acres in Wilmington on Wednesday morning. The three teams, each consisting of two people, have their ropes tied to the same bucket of water. The teams must work together to maneuver the bucket over to a pedestal. Success is achieved by bringing the bucket over to the pedestal, and placing it on top, without spilling any of the water.

Camp Forty Acres

Wilmington's hidden jewel

By JAYNE W. MILLER

WILMINGTON - Camp Forty Acres in Wilmington offers acres of fun, education and teambuilding for kids from the greater Wilmington area. Operated by an entirely volunteer board - directed by Rick Barry along with his wife, Kathy - the Andover Street camp serves students, youth groups, and summer campers ranging in age from Kindergartners to high school seniors.

Built on a little over forty acres of land donated by several landowners approximately 55 years ago, the camp interconnects with the Town Forest. The facility and board aim to help children and adults grow through experiential learning by embracing problem solving through teamwork. Available for use by church groups, scouting, sports teams, and school departments the camp offers many opportunities for team-building activities along with picnicking, camping, hiking, cross country skiing, and horseback riding.

Each year Wilmington 5th graders enjoy a four day program at the Camp in the spring called Outdoor LIFE. Outdoor LIFE stands for Learning Is Fun and Exciting and the program lives up to its name. Offered the last several years in place of the previous four day overnight program titled

Library getting a makeover

By STEPHEN BJORK

WILMINGTON - Patrons of the library are noticing some changes lately. Some of the collections have been moved from one place to another recently - some more than once - and a number of bookshelves appear to have gone missing. Not to worry, however, it is all part of a planned re-configuration of the first floor.

"We are looking to make this space more user friendly and to make the best possible use of the space available to us in order to provide optimum service to our valued patrons," said Wilmington Memorial Library Director Christina Stewart.

Thanks to state funds, the library staff were recently able to attend the Public Library Association (PLA) Conference held in Boston and came away with inspiration for improvements to the current facility.

The keynote speaker of the conference was Paco Underhill, the Founder, CEO and President of Envirosell, a New York based consulting firm that has spent more than 25 years conducting research on the different aspects of shopping behavior. The company has been profiled in such publications as The New Yorker, Fortune, and many others.

According to the Envirosell website, "Paco helps companies understand what motivates the behaviors of today's consumer. His research shows how today's retail world is ruled by factors such as gender, 'trial and touch' and human anatomy."

In most respects, Underhill's research plays as well to those browsing in public libraries as to those browsing in Barnes & Noble. The only apparent missing ingredient is the exchange of currency.

The Wilmington Memorial Library staff absorbed the conference's emphasis on the importance of roomy traffic-flow areas, eye-catching displays, effective merchandising, and outstanding customer service.

The staff attended every "space planning" session offered, in order to develop and execute a plan for making the very most out of the existing facility.

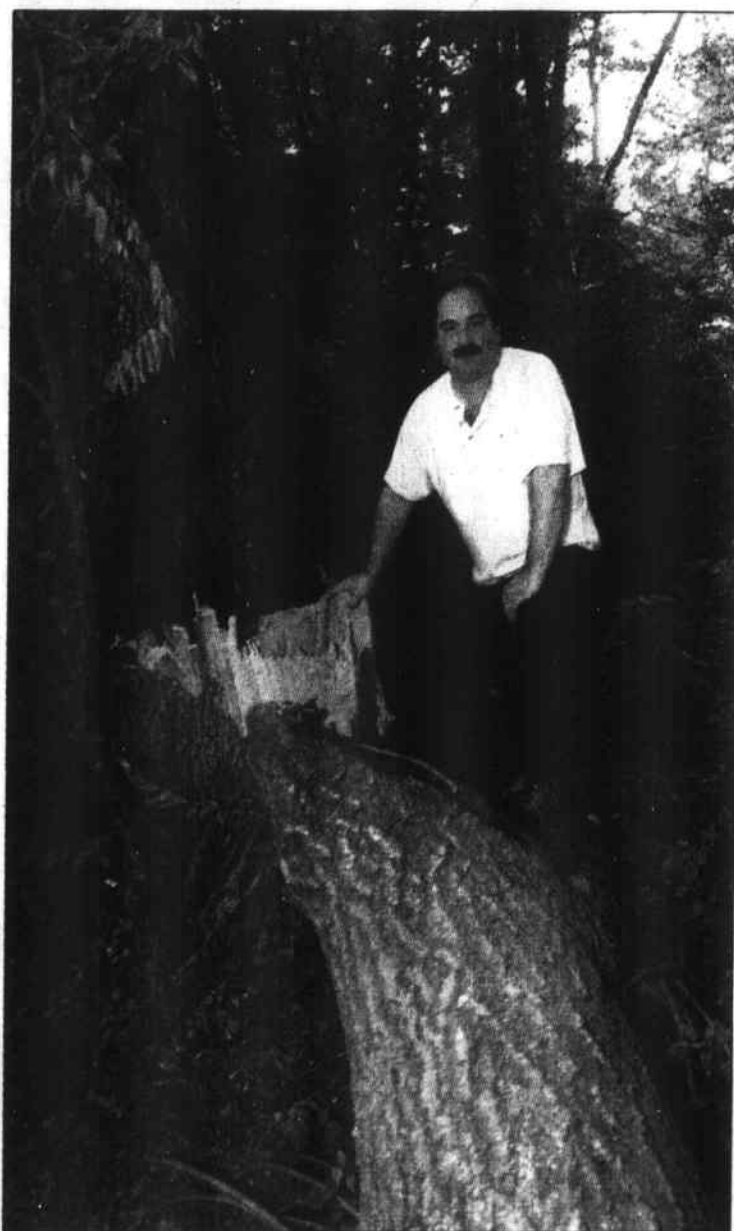

"It's important to note that plans for a new library, or even an expansion to this one, are on hold for the foreseeable future," Stewart said. "It's time to take another look at the space we have and find new ways to make the most out of it."

Stewart credits Linda Callahan, Head of Reference & Adult Services, and Charlotte Wood, Technical Services Librarian, as the inspiration and moving force behind the ongoing changes.

"Linda and Charlotte put a lot of thought, creativity, and time into this project," Stewart said. "They are the brains behind the plan."

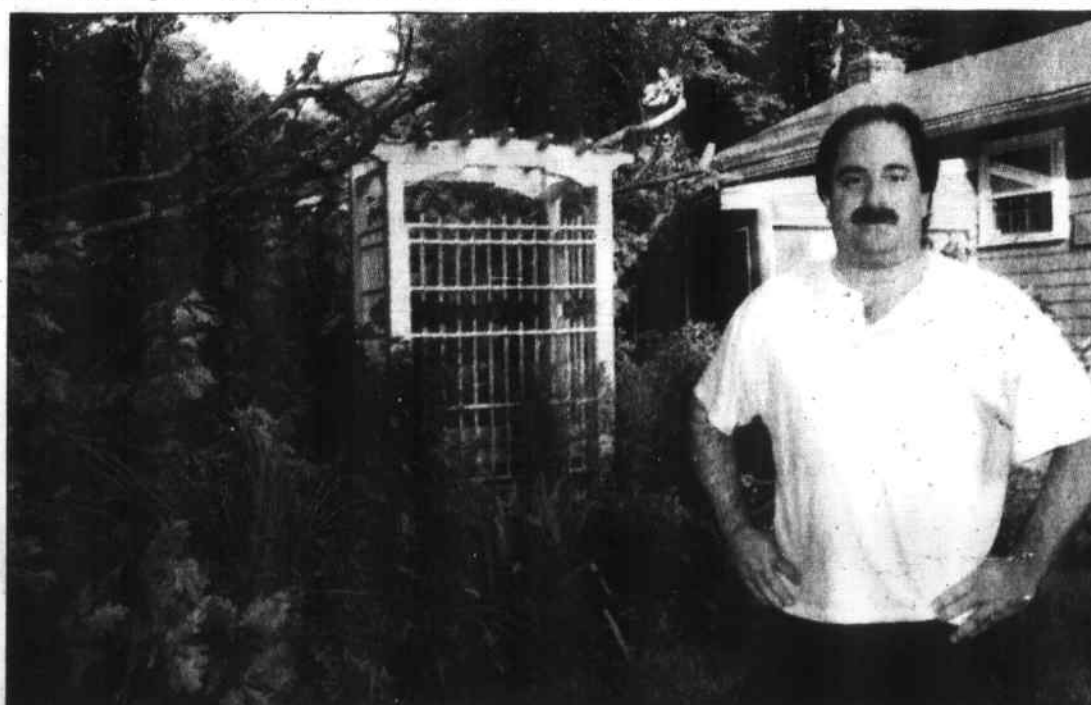

The first noticeable change, is the absence of the shelves that had contained the video collections and had been located - if one were entering from the Church Street entrance - to the left, toward the front of the building. That area will soon become a magazine/newspaper

House passes Sales Tax HolidayWeekend for August 12th and 13th

BOSTON - Representative James R. Miceli, Chairman of the House Committee on Personnel and Administration, and Representative Barry Finegold announced this week that the House of Representatives overwhelmingly passed legislation allowing shoppers a break on the payment of the sales tax during August 12th and 13th. This is the third year in a row that the legislature has passed this legislation. This sales tax holiday weekend will exempt single item purchases of $2,500 or less from the state's 5% sales tax. The tax holiday in the past has saved consumers $25 million and retailers benefited with $900 million in revenues. The exemption does not include automobiles, motor boats, meals and tobacco product sales, telecommunication services, gas, steam and electricity. "The sales holiday is an initiative established to promote Massachusetts retail stores and to provide residents an opportunity to save money when making purchases," Miceli said. "If you're in the market for a new television or you're getting ready to make a back-to-school purchase, circle your calendar and prepare to save for the third consecutive year," said Finegold. "By keeping money in their pockets and sparking business for retailers, the sales tax holiday is a win-win situation for both buyers and sellers."

TOUGH NEW MEDICAID RULES

Time was, many middle-class families took advantage of loopholes that allowed them to transfer assets to family members and then let Medicaid pick up the bill for nursing home care. A tough new law has made it harder to qualify. Equity planning and long-term-care insurance are expected to be more important now.

Some years ago, the value of a person's home was exempt from the eligibility equation. Under the new law, anyone with more than $500,000 in home equity is ineligible, though a house occupied by a spouse or a disabled or a minor child is still exempt.

Another change: the "look-back" period, when Medicaid can examine asset transfers and declare the individual ineligible for benefits, has been lengthened from three years to five.

New laws bring out new questions. We've got the answers you need at:

Elvis is coming to Wilmington

Wilmington Recreation Department "Concerts on the Common" finale features a "Tribute to Elvis"!

The "Sounds of Summer" Concert series concludes on the Wilmington Town Common on Wednesday, August 9. Mike Slater will perform his Tribute To Elvis from 6:30 - 8 p.m. This concert is sponsored by Dunkin' Donuts/Baskin Robbins at 195 Main Street and Dunkin' Donuts at 321 Main Street. This concert has been rescheduled from an earlier date.

During his ninety-minute concert, Mike Slater, rated one of the best tribute artists in New England, will recreate an evening with the King through his music and costuming. With a song list of 178 songs, you are sure to hear some of your favorites.

Bring dinner, chairs or a blanket and relax on the Town Common as we welcome "The King" to Wilmington. See you there.

Letters to the editor

Don't target the library

To the Editor:

The Executive Board of the Friends of the Tewksbury Public Library, Inc. would like to go on record as opposing the Special Town Meeting warrant article formulated by the group known as U-25. Those of us who use the public library on a regular basis know how vital it is to all groups in Tewksbury's population.

The proposed reduction in library hours will jeopardize the library's accreditation and will lead to a loss of state funds and grants.

Library users are waiting at the doors when the library opens at 9:00 a.m. This early morning hour is heavily used by parents with infants and toddlers on the one hand, and by senior citizens on the other. Group homes and Tewksbury Hospital residents visit early in the day.

Reading is crucial to education. Children fill our town's library and have access to a whole world of knowledge. Students don't get resources for their homework at the school libraries—they use the public library.

Programs for infants and toddlers, bedtime story times, Saturday craft programs, computer instruction, book talks by visiting authors, book discussion groups for adults, workshops on starting a business, poetry programs—our public library supports life-long learning for all of us!

Our senior citizens use the meeting room for classes during construction of their center. Town boards and committees meet there. Tutors are sent from the schools to meet with children at the public library.

Education is important. Reading is important. Libraries are important.

Let's work together instead of pitting one group against another, especially two groups who are, or should be, natural allies.

Please, resist the urge to implement piecemeal cuts in one town department.

Most sincerely,
Yvonne Hall
President

Compliments to Tony

(editor's note: the following letter refers to last week's installment of "The Family Therapist" written, as always, by the one and only Anthony Ferrara.)

Dear Tony

I loved your article on Our Disappearing Work Ethic. You are so correct. Many children these days have no idea how to work towards goals or to do for themselves. They have everything given to them or done for them. Another reason for this is many households have 2 parents that have to work to make ends meet. They feel guilty, so they give the child whatever they want or do everything for the child. The problem is that because the children are having to do nothing to get it and have no responsibility, they are going to have a jolt of reality when they get out in society and they have to work for it and do for themselves. Unfortunately, they won't know how.

M. Jelley
Tewksbury

U-25: Go back to the drawing board

Dear Editor,

The Tewksbury Public Library has become a hive of activity since the public schools closed for summer vacation. Well over one thousand library users cross through the front doors on an average day. On each Monday in July, more than 3,000 items slid across the library's circulation desk. Breaking those transactions down to any hourly average, the library's clerks have processed one book every twenty seconds. In fact, approximately 25,000 books and other items have been checked out in the month of July, a rate that would have been unheard of a decade ago.

For the 12 months ending June 30th local residents checked out 245,644 items, up 10% from FY 2005. In July, more than 135 new library cards were issued, an increase of 20% over a typical month.

For many years, the Library has been closed on Saturdays during July and August. In September, 2005, the library expanded its school-year schedule to include Sunday afternoons, funded by a grant. So the Sunday hours ceased at the end of June also. However, many local residents have requested Saturday service during the summer, if not both weekend days. Hundreds of books are returned in the outside book bins, which have to be emptied several times a day on both Saturday and Sunday, and the library's voice mail system is clogged with calls inquiring why no one is picking up the phone.

Yet in the midst of this unprecedented increase in library usage, the citizens-based group U-25 has put forth a proposal to reduce the library's budget so that funds can be used instead for additional teachers in the school system.

No one from the U-25 group has discussed the issue with me, and, to my knowledge, no member of the Board of Library Trustees has been asked for information on the programmatic impact of these proposed budget cuts. The U-25 groups needs to present to the voters more concrete information on how the proposed budget cuts would be implemented and to verify the amount of savings that could actually be realized.

While the proposed warrant article seems simple and straightforward, in reality U-25 has based its assumptions on incomplete and inaccurate information. The proposal has the potential for creating the following problems for the thousands of local residents who use the library:

- several staff members laid off
- severe reduction in the library's schedule
- loss of some or all evening and weekend hours
- loss of privileges to borrow materials from area libraries
- loss of inter-library loans for materials not held in Tewksbury
- fewer services and programs, such as story times
- fewer materials purchased
- loss of accreditation

The figure of $200,000 that the warrant article proposes to be taken from the library's budget appears to be arbitrary. No evidence is presented that the proposal is part of a well-thought out, long-range staffing plan for the school system. U-25 has stated that the school system needs 30 additional teachers, yet the group does not address where the rest of the funds, another $1.1 million, will come from.

The warrant article is accompanied by an editorial piece labeled as a "Fact Sheet" which creates more questions than it answers. Under the sheet's Introduction, the statement is made, "Every area of Town Spending should be subject to strict analysis and strict scrutiny...This means we should evaluate our Library spending." The last sentence does not flow from the first. Why just the library budget? No information or data is presented to explain why U-25 selected the public library's budget for the article.

The Fact Sheet's "data" raises questions about the group's credibility. The sheet lists as "facts" five years of budget numbers labeled, "Tewksbury

Quick Health Tips

by Dr. Leslee Quick

Osteoporosis

Osteoporosis can wreak havoc on the human body; clothes don't fit, height is lost. In fact, some of the statistics are downright scary. According to the National Osteoporosis Foundation and 2004 Surgeon General's report, it is estimated that ten million people have the disease; one in two women and one in four men will have a related fracture. Hip fractures alone account for over 300,000 hospitalizations annually and one in five of those people end up in a nursing home within a year needing long-term care. And America pays for it, spending $18 billion per year caring for bone fractures. With our reliance on dairy you would think the percentages would be decreasing but they're not.

Osteoporosis literally means bones full of holes. Contrary to what many people believe, a diagnosis of osteoporosis does not mean that the bones are smaller, just weaker and less dense. Often called the "silent disease" there are no related symptoms and often a fracture is the first inclination you may have of it.

In order to understand what the disease does we need to understand the make-up of bones. Our bones are made up of collagen, for cushioning, and the minerals calcium and phosphorus in a 10:4 ratio, for strength. In fact 99% of our body's calcium is found in the bones. Due to the dynamic nature of our body, calcium and other minerals are being moved to and from the bones every day in order to maintain tight blood levels of necessary nutrients.

After the mid-thirties we begin to slowly lose bone mass, women at a greater rate than men - another reason God could not possibly be a female. Bone density loss is the greatest during the early post-menopausal years, partially due to the decrease in estrogen, which aids in calcium absorption, and then we lose it less rapidly again into the golden years. So, often by the time people break a bone, they have been losing bone density for years.

So what controls the loss of calcium? The parathyroid glands are the main stabilizer of these blood levels through a tight feedback mechanism. When calcium blood levels are low the glands release parathyroid hormone (PTH) which signals the release of calcium from the bones into the blood. On the flip side, high blood calcium signals less PTH and storage of extra calcium into the bones as a reserve for future use.

Blood pH levels can also cause demineralization of bone. Our body is set at a slightly alkaline pH. However, much of our diet remains relatively acidic: too much meat protein, junk food, stress and not enough earthy vegetables continuously create an acidic environment. When the pH lowers and becomes acidic the body will attempt to increase the pH by taking alkalizing mineral reserves from the bones. Over time the reserves run low and bones begin to demineralize.

Another contributor to the loss of calcium in the body is having too much phosphorus. Bone is made up of a tight ratio of a calcium/phosphorus ratio of 10:4. When phosphorus levels become too high calcium gets excreted by the kidneys to even out the ratio. Where do we get a lot of phosphorus? Soda contains an abundance of phosphorus in the form of phosphoric acid.

Other considerations that play important parts in calcium absorption, or lack thereof, include magnesium, zinc, iron etc.

Numerous factors increase your risk of developing osteoporosis. These include familial tendencies, past fractures, high coffee intake, too much protein and poor diets to name just a few. Certain prescription drugs, most commonly corticosteroids, over time can induce osteoporotic changes as do certain diseases. But these factors do not always mean you will get the disease.

The good news is it's never too late to start reversing the trend. The best time to start is when you are young. Parents, please listen up. Your body does take in reserves so that there is greater mineral storage when it is needed later on in life.

So what can you do?

Exercise. Moderate exercise is beneficial for the absorption of calcium into the bones. Too rigorous of exercise actually promotes malabsorption. So feel free to run, walk and dance for at least a half an hour but don't feel you need to run the marathon. Serious athletes can actually do more harm than good at times, especially in cases of osteoporosis.

Eat earthy vegetables. Organic vegetables are the best for a number of reasons including being grown in clean soil that is laden with important minerals. All too often our chemicals deplete the soil of these important minerals.

Get regular amounts of the correct calcium. Calcium carbonate, the cheapest and most abundant form of the mineral is also the least effective. It is not absorbed well, if at all, and can actually encourage acidemia and calcium deposits. More soluble forms include calcium aspartate, chelate, citrate, and lactate. Remember that it is not best to take one calcium supplement per day but to, instead, spread it throughout the day. If insomnia is an issue, be sure to take some at the end of the day on a regular basis. And don't rely on dairy for your daily value of calcium. Although calcium is in abundance in milk, the pasteurization process kills much of its absorption value. Find your calcium elsewhere, most often in the earthy vegetables mentioned above. Other good sources include seafood (with bones), almonds and many herbs.

Don't forget the daily value (DV) levels of any vitamin/mineral are based on the average adult of 1000 mg/day. Adolescents, older adults and pregnant and lactating woman need higher levels than stated on your DV percentage labels.

Take calcium with magnesium but not with iron. Calcium and magnesium have a love/hate relationship and inhibit each other if one is taken more than the other. On the other hand, calcium taken with iron reduces the other's affect. Also, don't overdose on zinc, which will inhibit calcium absorption. And please put down the Tums, which adds poor calcium (carbonate) and neutralizes the stomach acid, which is necessary for calcium absorption.

Get vitamin D into the body. It is best made by the body when exposed to sunlight. An estimated 15-20 minutes, three times per week is sufficient. Sunscreens will inhibit the absorption of the vitamin. Other sources include fish liver oils, saltwater fish, eggs and liver.

Avoid or limit your intake of coffee and alcohol. And just say no to smoking - all of which inhibit absorption or cause excess excretion of the mineral.

Get an osteoporosis screening. There are simple machines that provide perfunctory screens and more technologically advanced methods. Ask your doctor which would be right for you. Insurances may be tough in this arena but a little knowledge goes a long way. Take your health into your own hands rather than letting the insurances do it for you. Don't forget, your insurance company is a business and not your friend.

Most important, it is never too late to change the paradigm. By knowing more now you can most often reverse the curse or lessen its affects so that you don't become a statistic. Here's to your health...naturally.

equitable manner across all town departments as opposed to having the public library singled out.

The average library user is most likely unaware of how loss of certification affects the library and its users. State Aid would be lost, which in and of itself would eliminate Sunday hours. Additionally, loss of certification suspends the principal of reciprocity between public libraries, meaning that Tewksbury residents would not only be prohibited from borrowing items from other libraries through the inter-library loan service and delivered by daily inter-library courier service, it would also deny them the privilege of checking out materials in person from other public libraries in the state.

To further increase the hardship, decertification prohibits the library from joining into cooperative purchasing consortia whose combined buying power reduces the costs of books and supplies. Without the deep-discounts from group-bids, the result would be even fewer goods and services could be purchased with remaining funds in the library's budget.

Library users cross all demographic groups in the town—singles, parents with infants and pre-school children, parents with children in the public school system, parents with children in private and parochial schools, parents who are home-schooling their youngsters, empty nesters, and senior citizens. The budget cuts recommended by U-25 do a disservice to the library's many users.

U-25 needs to pull out the calculators and go back to the drawing board. The proposed town meeting warrant article is both flawed and ill-conceived. The group needs to get the facts straight, and to be able to clearly and accurately describe the impact, both positive and negative, of the proposed warrant article.

Everything's a Story

by Andrea MacMullin

Although the calendar says August, it still feels to me like the end of June and the kids just got out of school. But alas, school will soon again be upon us. And I know this because the back-to-school sale flyers have started to arrive.

Crayons, folders, glue sticks and notebooks. It's always a very exciting time for the kids, just imagining the possibilities of a new school year with each breath of a new box of 24.

Nearly three weeks ago I received the first hint of the new school year with a flyer from the friendly neighborhood mega-store where you can get oil for your car and a gallon of milk all in one convenient stop. It was the back to school sale to beat all sales.

A box of 24 crayons, not the cheap ones either, for 20 cents. Yes, that's two dimes, or twenty pennies, or four nickels. That, along with all of the other items needed on the school supply list was being offered at prices less than when I was a kid. It was my mission to get those crayons for twenty cents a box.

I only needed two boxes, one for each of my children. But I thought I should stock up, crayons may never be offered at this price again. I was going to save $1.12 if it was the last thing I did.

I ventured out, school supply lists in hand. The kids were excited as well, relishing the once a year moment of purchasing and organizing for the year ahead.

We got our cart, and nonchalantly made our way to the aisle. This, I feel was important. Should we go dashing wildly down the aisle, drawing attention to ourselves, others in the store would be aware of the furry, somehow knowing that we were keen to the fact of some unknown sale made only available to a select few, like myself.

As we turned the corner, disappointment filled the air. Empty display boxes littered the shelves. Another mother, children in tow, gazed along with us at the debacle. No crayons. No markers. Not even a broken colored pencil abandoned from its box. It was all gone.

I let the kids get a folder, but it wasn't the same. The enthusiasm was lost. So instead, we spent $90.00 on other items we didn't need. Which I realized later was probably the intent of the store when they put out the seven boxes of crayons they had planned to sell to the first customer who arrived at the store at 7:00 a.m.

I called the store after I got home, asking about the rain check policy that was clearly printed on the back of the flyer. This particular store of course didn't honor that policy for some reason.

I was fuming. What I should have done was gather up my bundles and go and return each and every item, vowing to never shop there again. But no, I didn't.

I called my girlfriend and complained to her. Although she agreed with the injustice of it all, she was equally agitated at the thought of getting items for such a price.

Calling me from her cell phone first thing in the morning the following day, she was in the aisle gathering up the last of the crayons in the display. Did I want her to get me some? No, I would go later. But again, they were out when I went again later.

My third trip proved successful. I got everything, and my total bill was only $14.34. Not bad.

But I'm showing that I spent $110 in gas that week.

Let's Hear it!!

Your Two Cents...

Thank goodness National Grid was well prepared for Tuesday's weather; South Tewksbury only lost power for 4 1/2 hours, from 9:20pm to 1:45am. Imagine how long we would have been without power if they hadn't been prepared!! What a disgrace - AGAIN!

Tewksbury

Have the water ban rules changed? It SEEMS as if you live on a cul-de-sac (away from traffic) you can use your inground sprinkler system or your sprinkler system at night..... or wash your car. Is that why we are buying water from Woburn?????

Wilmington

(editor's note: the water ban is still in effect and numerous citations have been issued this summer. The Town does ask residents observing what may appear to be violations of the water ban to contact police for follow-up investigations. Only residents that are using private wells are currently exempt from the water ban.)

MWRA water has fluoride? Great, now I won't have to brush my teeth! Keep fluoride in the toothpaste and out of our water!

Letters to the editor

Wild about Wilmington schools

Dear Editor,

On behalf of the Wilmington Educational Foundation, I wish to thank all those Wilmington Public Schools families who participated in the Foundation's recent school-year-end Teacher Tribute Program. As a result of these families' generosity, more than 55 teachers and other staff members were honored with Teacher Tribute Certificates issued by the Foundation, and over $4,200 was raised to benefit the Wilmington Educational Foundation.

These certificates are important reminders to teachers that we appreciate and recognize their daily efforts in educating our children. The funds raised by the Teacher Tribute Program will be used by the Wilmington Educational Foundation to provide innovative and creative programs to benefit Wilmington students.

The Wilmington Educational Foundation was established in 1994 with the mission of "The Pursuit of Excellence in Education through the development and distribution of private resources to benefit and further enrich students of the Wilmington School District." As the Foundation increases its support of our town's public schools, our children's education will be even more enhanced.

Thanks again to everyone who participated in the Teacher Tribute Program. And as a community, let's all get "Wild About Wilmington Schools!"

Sincerely,
Jacquie Raffi
President, Wilmington Educational Foundation

Restore the WWII Honor Roll

To The Editor:

It was with such happiness that we read about Tom Galka being honored on Memorial Day and receiving his much deserved medals. Tom is the brother of my wife, Betty.

I was recently discussing this event on the phone with my friend Paul Carpenter. He mentioned that the Honor Roll Memorial listing the Wilmington WW II veterans was no longer standing in front of the old town hall on Middlesex Ave. We both thought that was most unfortunate. Along with many others, the names of six Carpenter brothers and five Galka brothers were listed on the honor roll. Indeed, Beacon Street was well represented in the war.

I recall walking to school each day and often stopping to look at the names and see who might have been added. It is appalling to think that town leaders would neglect this memorial.

I hope that every effort will be made to locate the honor roll and restore it to its rightful place of recognition. The men and women of the "Greatest Generation" who so willingly and valiantly served our country must not be forgotten.

MassDEP Penalizes Keyspan Energy $12,500 for Failures Cited During Asbestos Removal at the Company's Tewksbury Facility

The Massachusetts Department of Environmental Protection (MassDEP) has penalized Keyspan Energy Delivery of New England $12,500 for asbestos violations found during an inspection of a demolition and renovation project at the company's Tewksbury facility.

On October 26, 2005, MassDEP found that concrete cutting work by a subcontractor at Keyspan's facility at 50 Chapman Road exposed old tile that contained asbestos, which was then discarded into a dumpster outside the building, violating several regulations.

Asbestos-removal projects in Massachusetts require prior notification to MassDEP, to ensure precautions are made during removal and disposal of asbestos because fibers can easily become airborne when ripped, or torn. These fibers can remain suspended in the air for long periods of time and can easily penetrate bodily tissue when inhaled. These fibers can remain in the body for many years and cause asbestosis and/or various forms of cancer.

"Those who undertake renovation and remodeling projects have got to use an abundance of caution especially when it involves old tiles or concrete flooring, because many times the asbestos is embedded or part of its composition," said Richard Chalpin, director of MassDEP's Northeast Regional Office in Wilmington.

Once tests confirmed the presence of asbestos in the discarded material, Keyspan hired an asbestos-abatement contractor, who then completed the work under an approved plan submitted to MassDEP.

MassDEP is responsible for ensuring clean air and water, safe management and recycling of solid and hazardous wastes, timely cleanup of hazardous waste sites and spills, and the preservation of wetlands and coastal resources.

OBITUARIES

Beverly A. Hathaway

Retired from Getronics, formerly Wang; 74

TEWKSBURY - Beverly A. "Bev" (Smith) Hathaway, age 74, a well known resident of Tewksbury for 50 years, died Wednesday evening, July 26, at Wingate at Lowell, after a courageous three year battle with cancer, surrounded by her family. She was the wife of Henry H. "Herb" Hathaway, who died in 2001.

She was born in Cambridge, May 22, 1932, a daughter of the late Leroy and Annie (Livingston) Smith, and raised in Arlington. She had resided in Tewksbury for over 50 years.

Before retirement in 2000, she was employed by Getronics in Lowell, formerly Wang Laboratories. In her earlier years, she had worked in the treasurers office at Tewksbury Hospital.

Mrs. Hathaway was devoted to her children and grandchildren and her many friends. She also enjoyed Bingo, and trips to the Connecticut Casinos with the Tewksbury Senior Groups. She was a frequent visitor to the Tewksbury Senior Drop-In Center, and a member of the Tewksbury Golden Age Club. She was also well known for her quick wit, hilarious stories, and fabulous sense of humor.

She is survived by two daughters and sons-in-law, Susan and Ronald Tenney, Karen and Jeffrey Perry all of Dracut; four grandchildren, Steven,

Sharon, Brad, and Alexandra; two sisters, Marjorie J. Smith of Arlington, Lillian L. Keating of Somerville; a brother and sister-in-law, Roy and Janis Smith of Somerville; a sister-in-law and brother-in-law, Mirabel and Paul Collins of Medford; several nieces and nephews; and numerous dear friends.

Her Funeral Service will be held Monday, July 31, at 11:00 a.m. in the Tewksbury Funeral Home, corner of Dewey and Main Sts. (Rte 38) Tewksbury Center, phone (800 in MA or 978) 851-2950. Burial will follow at Tewksbury Cemetery. Visiting hours Sunday 4 to 7 p.m. In the funeral home. ## Cheryl A. Jensen-Thorp WILMINGTON - Cheryl A. Jensen-Thorp, age 43 years, of Wilmington, died on July 23, 2006, at the Massachusetts General Hospital in Boston.

Cheryl was born on Monday, May 13, 1963, in Boston, the daughter of the late Robert Jensen and the late Gloria (Stewart) Jensen.

Cheryl is survived by her sons James Thorp, Jr., Nicolas

Thorp and Steven Thorp all of Wilmington; and her sister Lynda Jensen of Wilmington. Cheryl was also the sister of the late Betty Murphy of Florida. Relatives and Friends are invited to attend visiting hours at the W.S. Cavanaugh & Son Funeral Home, 374 Main St. (Rt. 38), Wilmington, on Saturday, August 5, 2006 from 2-6 p.m.

Ethel Bertha Smith, R.N.

Graduated Choate Hospital School of Nursing

Ethel Bertha (Reid) Smith, 96, of Harwich, formerly of Wilmington, died Friday, July 28, at Epoch of Harwich. She was the wife of the late Frederick A. Smith who died in 1963. Born May 8, 1910 in Somerville, graduated Woburn High School in 1928 and Charles Choate Hospital School of Nursing in 1938. She worked many years as a private duty nurse, then worked back at the Choate Hospital in the 1960's. Prior to residing in Wilmington, she had lived in various Boston suburbs including Woburn, Somerville, and Chelsea.

Mrs. Smith was very active in church; she was a charter member of the Wilmington Baptist Church where she was a part of the women's group and was a member of the First Baptist Church of West Harwich where she was a part of the Mission's Board. She was also a member of the E.M.F.

Women's group.

Ethel is survived by her daughters, Barbara L.S. Eaton of South Harwich, Elaine A. Cox of Harwich and Beverly J. McNamara of Dennis; her brother Frederick F. Reid of Woburn and Doris McElhinney of West Newton. Also, surviving are ten grandchildren and seven great-grandchildren.

A Visitation will be held Wednesday, August 2nd, from 7-9 p.m. in the Doane, Beal & Ames Funeral Home, 260 Main St., West Harwich. A Funeral Service will be held Thursday, 9:30 a.m., in the Funeral Home, followed by an interment at 1 p.m. in Wildwood Cemetery, Wilmington.

Donations may be made to the First Baptist Church of West Harwich, 60 Main St., West Harwich, MA 02671 or the Residence Council at Epoch of Harwich, 111 Headwaters Drive, Harwich, MA 02645

O'Toole honored at U. Maine at Farmington

FARMINGTON, MAINE - The University of Maine at Farmington has announced its Dean's List for the Spring 2006 semester which includes Nancy O'Toole of Tewksbury.

A student whose grade point average is 3.4 and greater and less than 3.8 receives honors; a student whose grade point average is 3.8 and greater receives high honors.

Established in 1864, the University of Maine at Farmington is Maine's selective public liberal arts college, offering high-quality baccalaureate programs in the arts and sciences, human services, and teacher education in a supportive and collaborative campus setting. With enrollment limited to just 2,000 students, it is about the same size as many of New England's most selective private colleges and offers many of the same advantages, yet at an affordable price. The University of Maine at Farmington has built a national reputation for academic excellence by placing students first and foremost.

Small class sizes, a close student-to-faculty ratio and valuable outside the classroom learning opportunities are the keys to its success. In its 2006 guide, U.S. News & World Report named it "One of America's Best Colleges" for the ninth consecutive year.

The University of Maine at Farmington is committed to the belief that a liberal arts education in a residential setting is the best preparation for careers and for citizenship. Their approach to education is based on the belief that students must have opportunities to form meaningful relationships with inspiring teachers. They must be challenged to be active citizens in a campus community that helps them find their own voices, teaches them the humility to seek wisdom from others, and prepares them for ongoing explorations of how knowledge can be put to use for the common good.

Local student graduates from Massachusetts College of Art

Boston - Local student Penny Fetfatsidis of Wilmington, has recently graduated from Massachusetts College of Art with a Bachelor of Fine Arts degree in Art and Design at the outdoor commencement ceremony held at the college on Friday, May 19th.

President Katherine Sloan awarded 287 graduate and undergraduate students Bachelor of Fine Arts, Master of Fine Arts, or Master of Science in Art Education degrees. In addition to recognizing the tremendous efforts of graduating students, the college awarded the Honorary Doctorate of Fine Arts to Ronald Takaki, whom is considered to be one of the preeminent scholars of America's ethnic diversity. Professor Takaki addressed the Class of 2006 during the ceremony.

Established in 1873, Massachusetts College of Art was the first and remains the only freestanding public college of art and design in the US. The college is nationally known for offering broad access to a quality professional arts education, accompanied by a strong general education in the liberal arts. A major cultural force in Boston, Mass offers public programs of innovative exhibitions, lectures and events. For more information, please visit www.massart.edu.

Northeastern University names local students to Dean's List

Boston - Northeastern University has recently named the following Wilmington students to the Dean's List of the spring 2006 semester:

Joseph G. Celona, majoring in Biology.

Wesley G. Koranteng, majoring in Business Administration.

Kaitlyn McNamara, majoring in Liberal Arts-Science.

Kaleena E. Scamman, majoring in Music.

Jason A. Figueiredo, majoring in Physical Therapy.

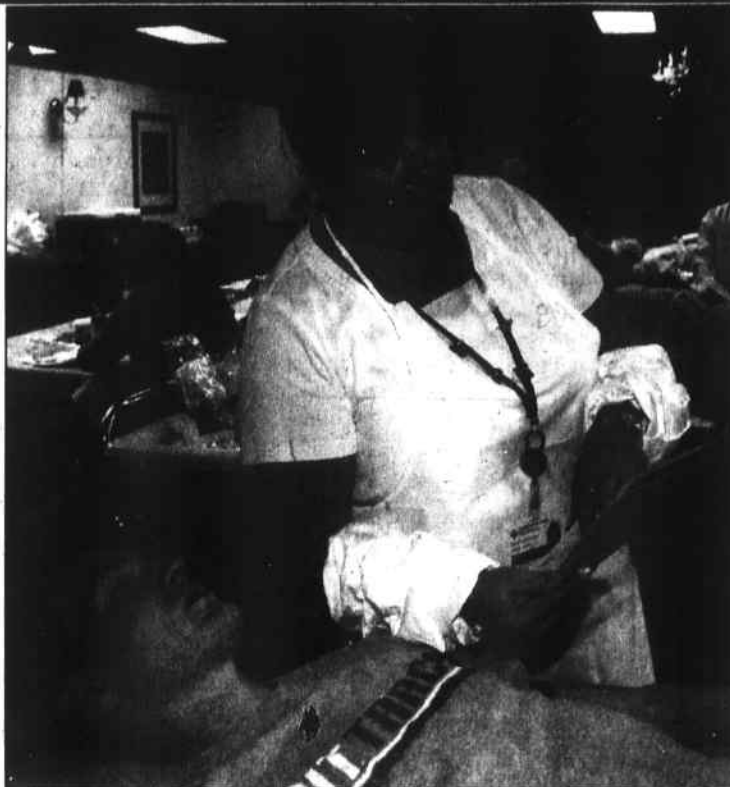

Brendam S. Strem, majoring in Physical therapy

To achieve the dean's list distinction, students must carry a full program of at least four courses, have a quality point average of 3.25 or greater out of a possible 4.0 and carry no single grade lower than a C during the course of their college career. Each student receives a letter of commendation and congratulation from the college dean.

Energy assistance from the Good Neighbor Energy Fund

BOSTON - With the continuing increased costs of living in mind, the Good Neighbor Energy Fund and its administrator, The Salvation Army, are encouraging those in need of assistance to visit their local Salvation Army Service Center or call (800) 262-1320 if you live in area code 413 and (800) 334-3047 if you live in area codes 508, 617, 781 or 978 to determine if the Fund can be a source of relief. The Massachusetts Good Neighbor Energy Fund is a safety net for families who are in temporary crisis and do not qualify for federal and state fuel assistance programs such as LIHEAP. The Salvation Army pays the energy provider directly for households which meet specific Massachusetts Electric income guidelines. For example, the following would qualify: a household of one earning between $19,140 to $26,318 annually; a household of four making between $38,700 to $53,213 annually; a household of eight making between $64,780 to $89,073 annually; and a household of eleven making between $84,340 to $115,968 annually. "Massachusetts residents, the corporate community and the Fund's energy sponsors have once again been very generous towards the Good Neighbor Energy Fund this year and, as a result, we hope that we'll be able to help all the households who qualify for assistance this year," said Captain Terry Shaffer of The Salvation Army. "With home energy and gas prices at the levels they are today, we encourage all those who are having trouble making ends meet and think they may qualify for assistance to contact us so we can help them get through this tough time."

The Fund's campaign relies on the generosity of individuals, families and local corporations for support. The goals of the Good Neighbor Energy Fund's 2005-'06 "Give The Gift of Warmth" campaign are to raise more than $675,000 so that The Salvation Army can assist over 3,250 families in temporary crisis due to illness, loss of job or other drastic change in their ability to make ends meet. Participating energy companies support their respective customers' generosity through various matching and giving programs.

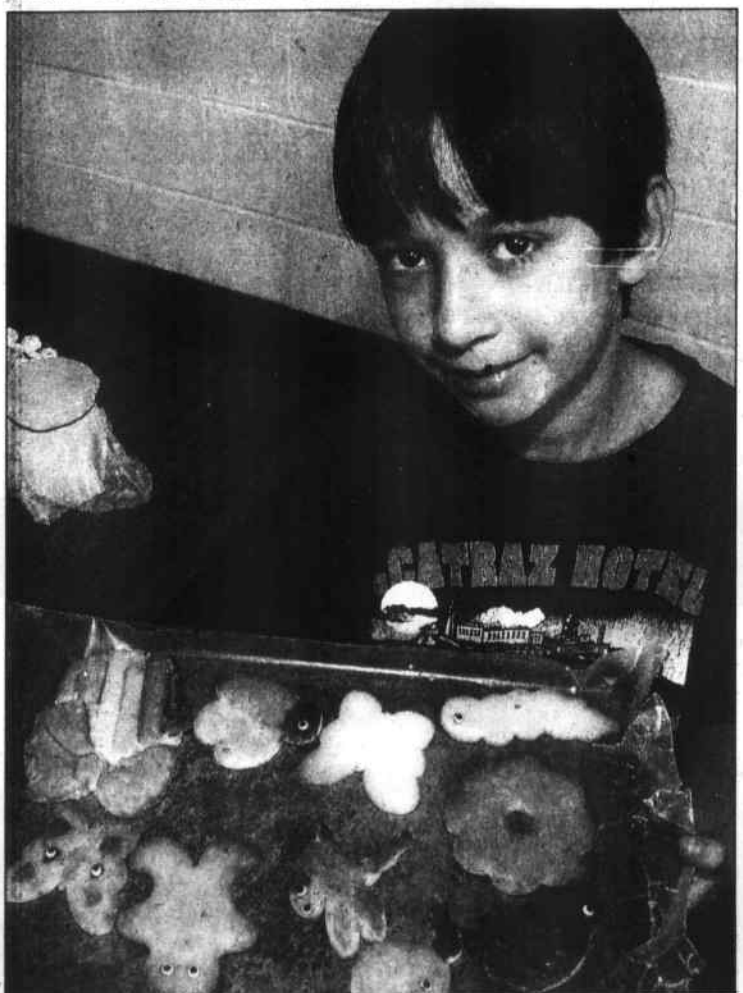

Massachusetts residents who wish to support the Fund can give by using the mint green-colored Good Neighbor Energy Fund donation envelope found as an insert in monthly energy bills of sponsoring utilities or through the 'add a dollar' program some energy companies offer, which allows customers to increase their monthly bill payment by one dollar or more.

Customers can also donate on-line by visiting www.magoodneighbor.org or by simply mailing a check payable to "The Good Neighbor Energy Fund" and send it to The Salvation Army, 147 Berkeley Street, Boston, Massachusetts 02116

Bruce Mandel earns Aruba expert certificate

WILMINGTON - The Aruba Tourism Authority is pleased to announce that Bruce Mandel, President of Longwood Travel has successfully completed the requirements necessary to qualify a an Aruba Certified Expert (ACE). The certification is accredited by the Institute of Certified Travel Agents. As a travel partner with Aruba, Bruce Mandel, will receive specialized sales and marketing benefits including first notice of travel specials and value-added promotions.

An Aruba Certified Expert must successfully complete an in-depth training program that demonstrates an overall knowledge of Aruba and that prepares them to better assist clients in selecting appropriate hotels, activities and packages. The ACE Program is delivered by government-certified trainers and contains information on Aruba's history, culture, geography, weather, getting around, things to do, nightlife, activities and dining plus specific features of each hotel. In partnership with Aruba, the ACE Agent is qualified to receive referrals generated from Aruba Tourism Authority advertising and other sales activities.

Aruba is a popular vacation destination in the Dutch Caribbean just fifteen miles from the Venezuelan coast and outside of the hurricane belt. The island is known for its powder-white beaches; azure water; 82 degree average temperature; divi-divi trees and its Arawak Indian and Dutch Colonial heritage. Aruba offers an abundance of both active and leisure vacation activities that attract families, honeymooners and water sport enthusiasts, many being scuba divers. The island is multi-lingual with English widely spoken.

The Aruba Certified Expert Program is sponsored by the Aruba Tourism Authority and the Aruba Hotel and Travel Association. For travel information, contact Bruce Mandel, Longwood Travel, 201A Lowell St. Wilmington, Ma 01887. 781-729-0820

Drop-in during library hours from August 7th through 11th to make one. All ages.

Clowning Around Story/Craft

Circus stories and a clown craft will be featured in this program for three and four year-olds on Thursday, August 10th at 10 am. Visit or call the Children's Room at (978) 694-2098 beginning Thursday, August 3rd to register.

Book Discussions

Children ages seven and older are invited to drop in for a discussion of Quiet on the Set! by Nancy Krulik on Tuesday, August 8th at 11:30 am. Bring your lunch.

Dragon Rider by Cornelia Funke was selected by children ages nine older for their discussion on Wednesday, August 16th at 3:30 pm. Copies of the books may be reserved by visiting or calling the Children's Room at (978) 694-2098. A door prize, provided by the Friends of the Library, will be awarded.

Star Mag Meeting

Kids ages eight and older are invited to drop-in on Wednesday, August 9th at 3:30 pm with their finished original artwork, puzzles, poems, comics, jokes, etc., as contributions to the fall issue of this magazine written by, for and about kids, and published by the library. Refreshments will be served and a door prize will be awarded.

Upcoming Teen Programs

Teen Comics Club

Come check out the new manga, draw comics, and watch some anime! The Comics Club will meet on Monday, August 7 at 7 p.m.

Teen Dungeons and Dragons

Drop in to play this popular fantasy role-playing game on August 8 and August 22 from 2:30-4:30 p.m. Beginners through advanced players, ages 12 and older, are welcome. We'll provide the snacks. All those who attend may enter the drawing for a free Dungeons and Dragons-themed prize donated by the Friends of the Library.

All-You-Can-Read Buffet (For Teens)

Sign up for our food-filled reading marathon to be held on Monday, August 14th and enjoy a full buffet of snacks, sodas, and sandwiches all day long, plus a pizza party for every marathon reader! Bring a pillow, a beanbag chair, or something else comfy to sit on. It doesn't matter what you read—bring your own books or choose something off our book menu. Teens starting 6th-12th grades can register by stopping by the Teen Zone (second floor) of the library or by calling (978) 694-2098. Sponsored by the Friends of the Library.

Henna Tattoos

If you missed the Henna Tattoo program in July, you can get a Mehndi style temporary tattoo on Wednesday, August 23rd, from 6-8 pm. Henna artist Nimmi Sehgal will be returning to the library to give FREE temporary tattoos to teens. Please register by calling (978) 694-2098.

Teen Book Discussion

If you've ever wondered how trends get started and styles become popular, Hunter has your answer. His job is to spot new things that are cool, show them to his boss Mandy, and let her spread them around to the major corporation she works for. Hunter's life is going fine—until he meets Jen, an Innovator (the step above Hunter on the cool pyramid), and Mandy is abducted by a mysterious anti-branding company. Can Hunter and Jen find Mandy before the anti-corporation finds them? Join us on Friday, August 25th, when we discuss Scott Westerfeld's So Yesterday. Please bring a lunch; dessert and drinks will be provided. Copies of the books may be reserved by visiting or calling the Children's Room at (978) 694-2098.

Book Donation Drop Off August 5

The Friends of the Library will be accepting your gently used book donations on Saturday, August 5th from 9 a.m. to 12 noon at 183 Middlesex Avenue (the house next to the library).

Win an iPod!

Anyone who joins the Friends of the Library or who renews their membership by September 30th will be entered into a drawing for an iPod. By joining the Friends of the Library, you help support library programs for all ages! The Friends also fund museum passes and respond to many other enhancement initiatives.

Tewksbury Library Notes

by Elisabeth DesMarais

Tewksbury has its own Native American inheritance

Massachusetts is known for its rich Native American legacy. It was here that the first Thanksgiving was celebrated and the state name actually derives from an Algonquian term that means "a big hill place." But who were these people whose influence extends to the present day? Popular culture has created an image of "Indians" with their feathered headdresses and teepees, but what the term Native American meant and continues to mean came in a much wider variety.

Although some tribes were buffalo hunters living in tipis on the plains, others were farmers who settled in longhouses in New England. Some were potters who built adobe communities in the Southwest, or seal hunters in frigid Alaska. Check out books like 500 Nations: An Illustrated History of North American Indians, U-X-L Encyclopedia of Native American Tribes, and

The Smithsonian Book of North American Indians to get a scope of the tribes from Abenaki to Zuni. Alternatively, browse by area to discover what tribes were living around your hometown. Time Life has produced an excellent series on tribes by geography, such as Hunters of the Northern Forest and People of the Desert.

The history of native tribes and Europeans has been a long and complicated one, often fraught with tragedy and change. The influence of outside forces can be found in Encounters in the New World, New Worlds for All, and the Earth Shall Weep. Books such as America in 1492, Mysteries of the Ancient Americas, and 1491: New Revelations of the Americas Before Columbus describe daily life before European contact. Learn about carefully engineered cities like the Aztecs' Tenochtitlan which had running water and sewage systems, or the development of corn by a sophisticated breeding process that rivals modern day genetic engineering.

Interested in trying native food beyond corn on the cob? Enduring Harvests and The Art of American Indian Cooking provide recipes from a variety of tribes for such traditional meals as venison stew and grape dumplings. Creative readers can also learn how to make crafts and tools from books like American Indian Survival Skills and Indian Handicrafts. Detailed drawings are included for making birchbark baskets, wigwams, fishing nets, and more.

Tewksbury has its own share in the Native American inheritance. The Wamesit tribe settled near the Merrimack and Shawshen rivers well before the arrival of colonists in the 1600's. Although the last of the tribe sold their land in Tewksbury in the late 1700's, their influence lingers on in place names like Wamesit Village or in art form as the Mico Kaufman sculpture near Vic's Waffle House. Their stone tools such as arrowheads, spears, and axes have been unearthed at local farms. The library has a collection of these artifacts in its local history room.

The Local History Room is located on the second floor of the library. Photo identification is required to view the special collections held in the local history room. The room is opened for public access all hours the library is open. All books mentioned in this article can also be found upstairs in the library's nonfiction section. ## Tewksbury Senior Topics

Golf, a fashion show and and trips galore - Tewksbury seniors are busy!

An activities meeting will be held Friday, August 4th at the Senior Center White House beginning at 1:00 p.m. All are welcome. The agenda will include the planning of activities for the upcoming Fall months and preparations for the 9th Mary Ann Wareham Golf tournament.

The 9th Annual Mary Ann Wareham Golf Tournament will be held at the Indian Ridge Country Club in Andover on Monday, September 11, 2006. The entry fee is $125 per person. The format will be an 18-hole scramble. Tee time is 7:00 a.m. The tournament fee includes a continental breakfast, green fees, cart, lunch and prizes. Entry forms and/or information on the tournament may be obtained by calling 978-640-4482, dropping by the Senior Center or calling Linda Brabant at 978-851-4243. All proceeds from this event will benefit the Tewksbury Senior Center Expansion Project.

Cootie players are reminded that there will NOT be a "Cootie Party" held in August.

If one is considering the Isle of Shoals and Warren Lobster House day trip of August 11th, it is asked that one sign up by this Friday. This trip is contingent on enough interest. The trip cost is $53 and includes mini coach transportation, a 2 hour cruise and lunch at Warren's with a choice of six entrees.

Dr. Smith will conduct a Podiatry Clinic at the Tewksbury Senior Center on Tuesday, August 29th. One may sign-up for this clinic beginning next Monday. This clinic is limited to the first 25 Tewksbury Seniors who sign-up with priority given to those who were on the waiting list for the last clinic. The co-payment is $10 per person. This clinic is partially sponsored by the Council on Aging.

A chorus group has begun to practice at the Senior Center. Why not give it a try? This group meets at the Senior Center White House, 460 East Street, at 4:00 p.m. on Tuesday afternoons.

All are welcome. A note of thanks is extended to Marilyn Moores for her role as Chorus Director.

The SHINE (Serving the Health Information Needs of Elders) Program will offer training classes this fall starting on September 11 at Elder Services of the Merrimack Valley in Lawrence.

The series of ten classes are planned from September 11 to November 9. It should be added that it is quite easy to get to Elder Services.

At present the Tewksbury Senior Center does not have a SHINE Counselor/s. Tewksbury residents have been referred to Counselors in other towns. Having a Counselor at our site would be a most valuable resource. If one feels that he/she would be interested in taking this course and becoming a SHINE Counselor for the Tewksbury COA, please contact Linda or Carol at the Senior Center 978-640-4482 Monday - Friday from 8:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. Information and a course outline may be obtained at the Senior Center.

The Blaire House of Tewksbury will hold its 6th Annual "Taste of the Merrimack Valley" to Benefit Elder Services on Tuesday, August 15th from 5 p.m. to 7 p.m. (Rain date 8/16/06). Tickets ($12 Adults, $8 Senior Citizens and Children) are available at the Senior Center, 460 East Street.

On Wednesday, August 23rd at 6:30 p.m., "The Pines of Tewksbury" will hold a Resident Fashion Show which is open to the public. Tickets for this event may also be obtained at the Senior Center at $10 per person. Proceeds will benefit Alzheimer's. The evening will include a fashion show including some clothing made by one of the Pines residents and some models from the Carnation Belles calendar; a yummy "goodies" buffet and calendar signing by the Carnation Belles calendar "gals".

The very next night, Thursday - August 24th at 7 p.m., the "Silver Tones Band" will be performing at the Tewksbury Country Club. Don't forget to mark your calendars with this event.

The Seniors are also planning another Yard Sale for September 30th which gives vendors plenty of time to gather their wares! Reservations are now being accepted at the Senior Center. The table fee is $15 per space. This event is held at the Tewksbury Hospital Old Chapel...rain or shine.

The following COA trips tickets are now available. One may also call the Senior Center at 978-640-4480 for details.

*Isle of Shoals Cruise and lunch at Warren's Lobster House on Friday, August 11th at $53;

*Mohegan Sun day trip on Thursday, August 17th at $20 per person;

*Rockport on Tuesday, August 22nd at $13 per person with lunch on one's own;

*Amtrak Downeaster Train Ride to Portland, ME on Monday, August 28 at $26 per person with a 3 hour stay in Portland to browse and have lunch on one's own. One must sign up for this trip by August 14th in order that the COA can insure reservations on Amtrak.

The Carnation Belles two year calendars are available at the Senior Center weekday from 8:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. and from calendar models at $22 per calendar. The calendar was created to help raise funds for the Senior Center Expansion Project. To date the calendar "gals" have raised $2,000 for the project!

Red Hat trips and events scheduled for the next several months are noted below. Belles are asked to note that a Red Hat member will be at the Senior Center each morning (Mon.-Fri.) to handle ticket sales.

*A Red Hat Tea at the Isle at Emerald Court on Sunday, August 20th from 2-4 p.m. with entertainment by John Root and light and lovely refreshments prepared by the Isle's new baker.

The tea ticket cost is $6 per Red Hatter. Proceeds for this event will benefit Alzheimer's.

A great time is expected...so Belles are encouraged to get their tickets early!

*The Dunstan School House & Portland Harbor Cruise on Sunday, September 24th at $55 per Red Hatter.

*A M/S Mount Washington cruise on Lake Winnepesaukee with a buffet lunch on board. The cost of this trip is $57 per person and includes motorcoach transportation.

*Lunch with the Singing Chef, Andy Lorusso, at the Bull Run in Shirley on Wednesday, November 8th at $51 per person.

It's predicted that we will be having very hot weather this week...so keep cool, drink plenty of non-alcoholic fluids, do not over exert in this hot summer weather and do check on those elderly neighbors who live alone to see if they are doing well. God Bless America.

Michelle Tassinari of Wilmington won over $300 at one of the Boys & Girls Club of Stoneham's weekly Bingo games last weekend. Bingo games are run at the Club every Saturday and Sunday night at 6:45 p.m. and proceeds help pull in almost 80% of the Club's annual budget. Are you spending a lot for your prescription drugs...

...even with Part D

Prescription Advantage can help!

Medicare's new prescription drug program has been a huge benefit for many seniors across the country, saving some up to hundreds of dollars each month on their prescription drugs. However, even with these savings, seniors may still have high out-of-pocket costs.

The Part D premium in Massachusetts ranges from $7.32 to $65.58 per month, depending on the plan chosen. Many plans also have deductibles up to $250 a year. Beyond those costs, there are drug co-payments. And, individuals whose drug costs reach $2,250 (the so-called "doughnut hole"), will now pay 100% of the drug costs until they have spent $2,850.

Fortunately for seniors living in Massachusetts, Prescription Advantage, the state's pharmacy assistance program, can help reduce these expenses. As a secondary payer to Part D, Prescription Advantage "wraps around" or supplements Medicare drug plans by helping to pay for co-payments, deductibles and other coverage gaps. Those with limited income may also be eligible to receive help paying for their Medicare Part D plan premiums.

Unlike other supplemental plans, Prescription Advantage requires no monthly premium and the plan limits annual out-of-pocket expenditures on the amount that members pay toward their prescription drugs.

For seniors who do not have Medicare Part D, but have prescription drug coverage through an employer or union, Prescription Advantage also provides secondary benefits.

Prescription Advantage will be holding an Open Enrollment from September 15 to November 15. Enrollment forms can be obtained by calling Prescription Advantage Customer Service toll-free at 1-800-AGE-INFO (1-800-243-4636) or TTY for the deaf and hard of hearing at 1-877-610-0241. Don't miss this opportunity to further reduce your prescription drug costs.

Another note to mention - The Wilmington Department of Elderly Services has a program called Telephone Reassurance. The goal of the program is to reach the homebound on a weekly basis so they can feel more in contact with their community. The definition of homebound elder for this program is as follows:

- Recently discharged from the hospital or rehabilitation center
- Recent widow/ widower
- Elder alone during the day without any contact
- Elder who just moved to area ie; Senior housing

This program will run Monday through Friday. Seniors will be called 2-3 times a week - as needed. If you should know anyone that could benefit from these program please contact - Terri Marciello - Wilmington Department of Elderly Services at 978-657-7595 - for further information.

Finally, with the severe heat continuing please check in on your neighbors. If there is an elder that you feel needs assistance feel free to call at 978-657-7595.

Nature's Classroom, students attend the camp like any other day at school, eliminating problems experienced by those youngsters not yet ready to spend three nights away from home. Outdoor LIFE, taught by teachers and parent volunteers based on training from the Camp, brings kids together in teams and gives them problems that require teamwork to solve.

One game, called Nitro Crossing, offers kids a rope swing hanging over a shallow pit. The kids must get their entire team across the pit, as well as a bucket of water - the "nitroglycerine." For some kids swinging on a rope is a piece of cake. For others, it's a much bigger challenge. The team has to work together to get everyone across in order to experience success.

"At the beginning of the week they are having a tough time listening to each other," said Kathy Barry. "At the end of the week they are asking each other questions."

In addition to teambuilding challenges the students also take labs based on their science, math and social studies curriculums. They also work on outdoor art and music projects. "It integrates almost the entire curriculum," said Barry.

The camp director organizes the programs and trains teachers and parents ahead of time to lead the activities over the four days of the program. The Camp also offers one day field trips staffed either by the Camp or teachers. While the camp is available to any school system in the area, surprising few are utilizing its assets.

The Summer Adventure Program, for ages 5-12, offers hiking, ropes and obstacle courses, and much more to children. Campers take enlightened nature hikes, which include learning about edible and poisonous plants, owl pellets, and other natural wonders often found in local woods.

A pioneering aspect of the program has campers building with ropes and logs. This year campers built a 25 foot tower under the rope bridge as part of the pioneering aspect of the program. Kids climb the tower wearing a harness and jump off the top using a billet line.

"It's so good for them, they are learning to trust and building self confidence," says Barry. Not all children can climb to the top, but some approach it as though they cannot climb any of it. For those kids, even climbing up four feet is important. "We always try to make them feel positive about what they've accomplished," said Barry.

Camp Forty Acres offers a ropes course full of high and low elements, including the aforementioned two line rope bridge, an open air pavilion that seats 150 children, 16 picnic tables, campfire area, a pond, several lean-to campsites, a platform tent, a two room cabin for winter camping, and a flat wall. Groups using the camp often bring their own gas grills. While bathroom facilities are currently limited to port-a-potties, modern bathrooms are being constructed and should be finished by the end of this summer, coinciding with the completion of a new caretaker's house.

Those interested in learning more are encouraged to contact the camp directly at (978) 658-8187.

Heather Trites and Christopher Keeley made up one of the three teams practicing an exercise designed to promote teamwork Camp Forty Acres in Wilmington on Wednesday morning.

Shooter nabbed in Georgia

According to Neville, Wilmington Police responded to a report of an injured person at the Fed Ex Ground facility, located on Jewel Drive, on June 28, 2000.

"Upon arrival they found a man suffering from a small-caliber gunshot wound behind his right ear," Neville said.

BJORN DAMIEN HEWITT

Hewitt and the victim, identified as Ayne F. Grant of Boston, were employed by a cleaning company located in Boston.

Grant survived the shooting and, prior to being transported to the hospital, identified the shooter as Hewitt, his co-worker.

Immediately after the shooting, Hewitt fled the scene in the victim's car. The car was found abandoned in Boston several days later.

Wilmington Police worked with State Police in searching for Hewitt, and conducted a search warrant of Hewitt's Boston home. Neither he nor any evidence was recovered from the residence. The gun used in the shooting has never been recovered.

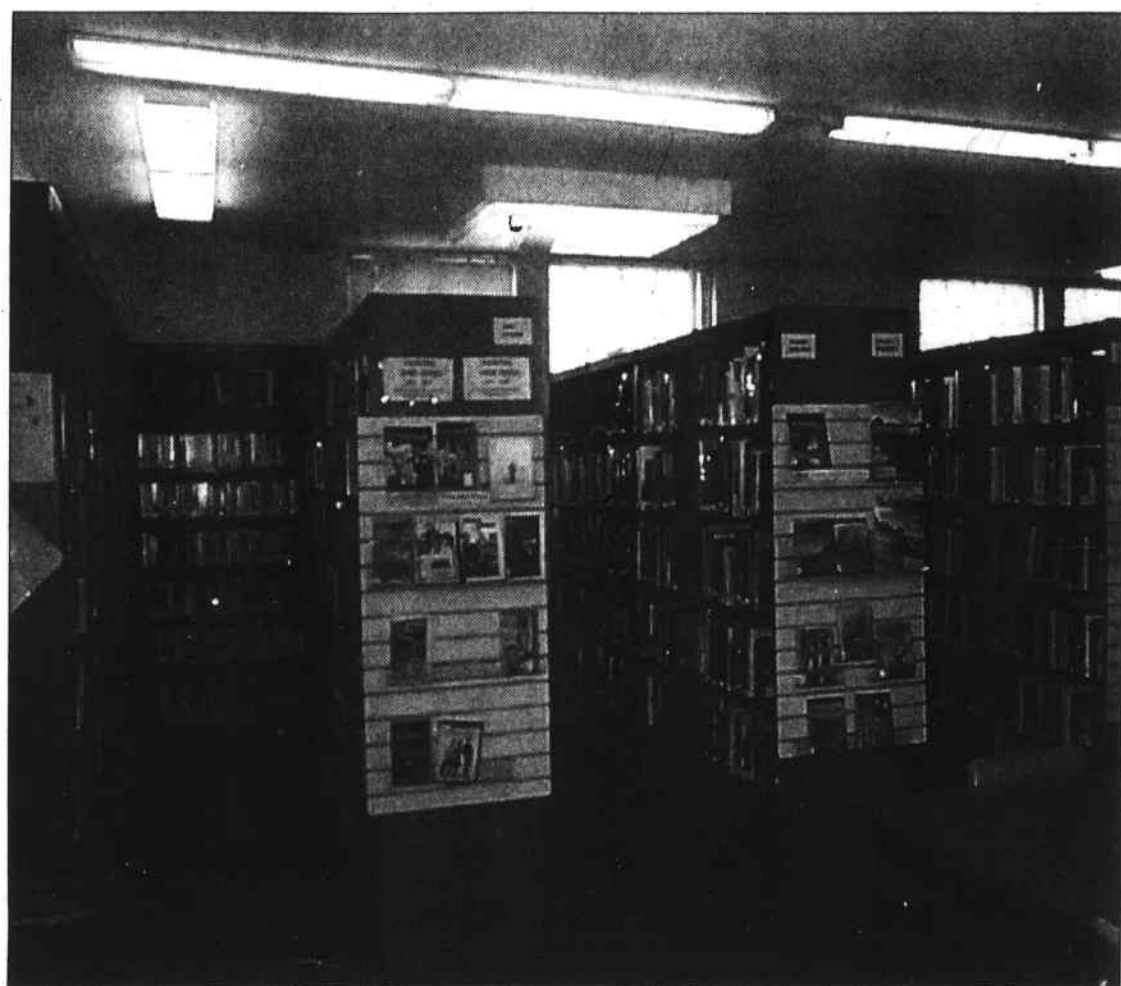

According to Neville, police became aware that Hewitt was living in Georgia last fall when he was arrested on an unrelated charge in Georgia. He provided a false name and address to police at the time of his arrest, however, and it took several months for the fingerprint match to reveal that the suspect was indeed Bjorn Hewitt.

U.S. Marshalls from the Southeast Regional Fugitive Task Force have been conducting surveillance for the past several months in an attempt to locate and identify him.

According to Neville, Hewitt was picked up on Thursday by the DeKalb County Police Department while illegally selling merchandise in a parking lot.

Hewitt waived rendition on Monday, according to Emily Lagrassa of the Middlesex District Attorney's Office, and will be returned to Massachusetts to face charges. Wilmington Detective Pat King will accompany a Middlesex County Sheriff to pick up Hewitt in Georgia early next week. Hewitt will be arriving in Massachusetts on August 8th and will be arraigned on August 9th.

Hewitt will be charged with assault and battery with intent to murder, assault and battery with a dangerous weapon, and larceny of a motor vehicle.

These stacks ('stacks' is library-jargon for bookshelves) were hiding the natural light that streams into the front windows of Wilmington Memorial Library. They have recently been removed in preparation for a new quiet reading area, as part of a re-configuration project for the whole first floor.

reading area, replacing the existing reading area located in the rear, right-hand side of the building.

The new space will take advantage of an abundance of natural sunlight that had gone nearly unnoticed due to the shelving. The current reading area is illuminated only by fluorescent lighting.

"We're letting more sunlight into the building and creating a quiet-reading area a little further removed from the busy circulation desk," Stewart said. "I think people are really going to enjoy it, when it's done."

Adjacent to the new reading area, tucked into the front-left corner of the building will be a large-print-book reading nook.

The magazine racks will be moved from their existing spot and into the new reading area, making way for another aspect of the planned re-configuration - a new circulation desk.

The new circulation desk will be ergonomically improved, for both patrons and staff, and will be ADA compliant with a lower area for more comfortable wheelchair accessibility.

The existing circulation desk will be removed, and only a portion of its current footprint will be used as the new home to the reference librarian. The reference librarian's station is currently located in the middle of the floor, in amongst the computer terminals, in the front-left area of the building.

"The new circulation desk will provide the staff with better sight-lines to more areas of the building than the current one does, and it will make for better queuing of patrons," Stewart said. "Patrons will be better served with the relocation of the desks, but it will also allow us to open up the center of the first floor for better flow and for more displays of popular and in-demand items."

As the re-configuration project continues, the center of the first floor will display far more of the most popular items and collections in a way conducive to comfortable browsing.

The re-configuration will take time, and library patrons should not be under the impression that the new reading area - as it stands today - is in any way the finished product. Stewart hopes to complete the re-configuration of the first floor by January, including some new furniture and displays. The re-configuration, however, is only Phase 1 of a larger plan that will ideally include, among other things, much needed lighting improvements.

The Library Board of Trustees approved Phase 1 during its June meeting and approved using available state aid to fund the project.

"We're excited about the changes and the staff is energized," Stewart said. "I think the patrons and the staff will be happy with the changes."

It could have been much worse

digging for clams, and generally enjoying the summer weather. Then Michael dove into the water, miscalculated its depth, crashed into a sandbar, and immediately lost feeling in his extremities. Managing to get his head just above water he called for help, whereupon his brother, Tommy, lifted his shoulders to get Michael's head out of the water.

The boys' father, Rick, has been a white water rafting guide and had all the requisite training, including backboard training. Next to Michael with-in seconds, Rick immediately rolled his son over but kept him in the water.

Keeping the Michael in the water offered three distinct advantages: the coolness of the water keeps swelling down; the natural buoyancy of the water keeps pressure off the spine, and allows rescue personnel to float the backboard right under the victim.

Kathy Barry, Michael's mother, was on the beach and not aware anything had happened until Tommy came out of the water and told her he had to call 911. She swam out to the sandbar to help hold Michael still until emergency crews arrived. Michael's aunt, also named Kathy, holds a doctorate in physical therapy, and luckily, she too was at the beach.

"She held his head the way it's supposed to be held," Michael's mother said. "She assessed him and did what he needed there. She was fairly certain he had done damage."

"It's important to know that the people with a victim can make a difference," Kathy explained, "Keep them still until help arrives, if you can. Keeping Michael calm made a difference; he never panicked."

Due to their location, the ambulance crew went to the Plum Island Pier and the Newburyport Harbor Patrol craft brought Michael over to the pier whereupon he was transported to Anna Jacques Hospital in Newburyport. Emergency Department physicians assessed his injury and had Michael medivaced to Brigham and Women's where doctors discovered that Michael had broken the 6th and 7th vertebrae.

Undergoing surgery that night, doctors replaced the seventh vertebrae with a bone graft and then inserted pins to hold the fifth through eighth vertebrae together. By Wednesday Michael moved to Spaulding Rehabilitation Hospital.

"He's walking, his leg strength is very good," said Kathy, "He can walk unaided. His hand strength is weaker. He will also wear a neck brace for three months."

Michael will continue to visit Spaulding for occupational therapy and hand therapy and will take physical therapy with his aunt.

"We could not have done it without the family and friends we have," said Kathy, describing all the help she received from Michael's grandmother and aunts.

"The town of Wilmington has come out in droves," she said. Michael's friends have been visiting him at Spaulding, attending OT with him, helping him during his therapy.

The Barry's expect a 100% recovery, though Michael has lots of hard work ahead of him.

"He knows how lucky he is," said Kathy. "There are lots of kids at Spaulding not as lucky as he is."

Michael came home Wednesday, August 2 and will keep working on his therapy. He'll start school in the fall though he'll likely need a few accommodations.

"Already, the high school said they would see that he gets what he needs," said Kathy. "This group of teachers is very dedicated."

"The main message from Michael's accident is be very careful," Kathy stressed, "Always know where you are and even in deep water you never know when obstacles are in your way."

entirely in Woburn, crossing over the Boston-Lowell railroad tracks, it connects the two municipalities and therefore the project required Wilmington's blessing in order to be eligible for state funding.

Wilmington Selectmen voted 4 to 1 in June of 2004 to support the re-opening of the bridge.

Along with State Representatives Jay R. Kaufman (D-Lexington) and Patrick M. Natale (D-Woburn), Sen. Havern told the Woburn Daily Times Chronicle, "The money is back!"

"This is a great day for Woburn. North Woburn is choking in traffic congestion and the design and construction of the New Boston Street Bridge will help to enhance the quality of life for all residents," said Havern. "I want to thank Mayor McLaughlin and the City Council for their help."

In particular, Havern singled out North Woburn Alderman John Ciriello, "John has been unbelievable. His focus and hard work made this all happen."

"After months of hard work on this project, I'm pleased that the funding for the New Boston Street will be included in the 2007 Fiscal Year Budget. The new bridge will prevent heavy traffic through residential neighborhoods and ease congestion on our local roads," said Rep. Natale in a prepared statement.

Natale represents North Woburn (Ward 6) and Wards 2, 3-6 in Woburn.

"I'm not sure why the Governor vetoed funding for this project, but the House and Senate have stood with Woburn to make this happen over his objections. Now we can begin to look forward to a new bridge," said Representative Kaufman who represents Woburn's Ward 1 (South End) and Ward 7

(West Woburn).

Ciriello, in a letter to constituents, termed the override "Great news," but warned, "we are not out of the woods yet... we are a step closer to getting a badly needed connection reopened."

Ciriello issued his thanks to the local legislators as well as, "the business community for coming to bat for us with letters of support on this important issue."

The funds vetoed would cover the study/design of the bridge-work and is estimated to cost about $400,000.

The cost of rebuilding the bridge is expected to be in excess of $5 million.

Charity game raises over two grand

By DAN IGO
Sports Correspondent

LOWELL - The good guys came out on top Sunday afternoon, as a team of Red Sox fans defeated a squad of Yankees fans 21-17 in the first Red Sox Fans vs. Yankee Fans Charity Softball Game.

However, the real winner in the game was the Jimmy Fund and Dana Farber Cancer Institute of Boston, which received more than $2,100 from the game.

Tewksbury was well-represented on both sides. Bobby Cooper, Brian Wilkinson, Dave Wade, Rob Bjorkgren, Bill Flynn, Teddy Cooper and Greg Nota suited up for the Red Sox. Mike Mecuri, Tim Wilson and Tom Saucier played in pinstripes as members of the opposing team.

Bobby Cooper was the organizer of the event. His company, Big Top Party Rentals, donated a dunk tank. There were concessions and volunteers hawking popcorn and programs in the stands. Prizes were raffled off, including a Trot Nixon jersey and a Yankees and Red Sox batting jersey respectively.

Cooper, a diehard Red Sox fan, scoured New York softball message boards and proposed his idea of a charity softball game. He got a very strong response, and numerous players from the Yankees team are originally from the Empire State. Cooper was very pleased with how the event went.

"The event went very successful," he said. "We made over $2,000. We've had over 400 people here today."

The atmosphere was the type one might expect at Fenway Park, not at Harry Allen field. Classic rock music blared between innings, and fans (predominantly in Red Sox apparel but a few Yankees fans sprinkled in) tested their knowledge with trivia questions. Fans also got an opportunity to take their picture with the 2004 World Series trophy, which made an appearance at the game.

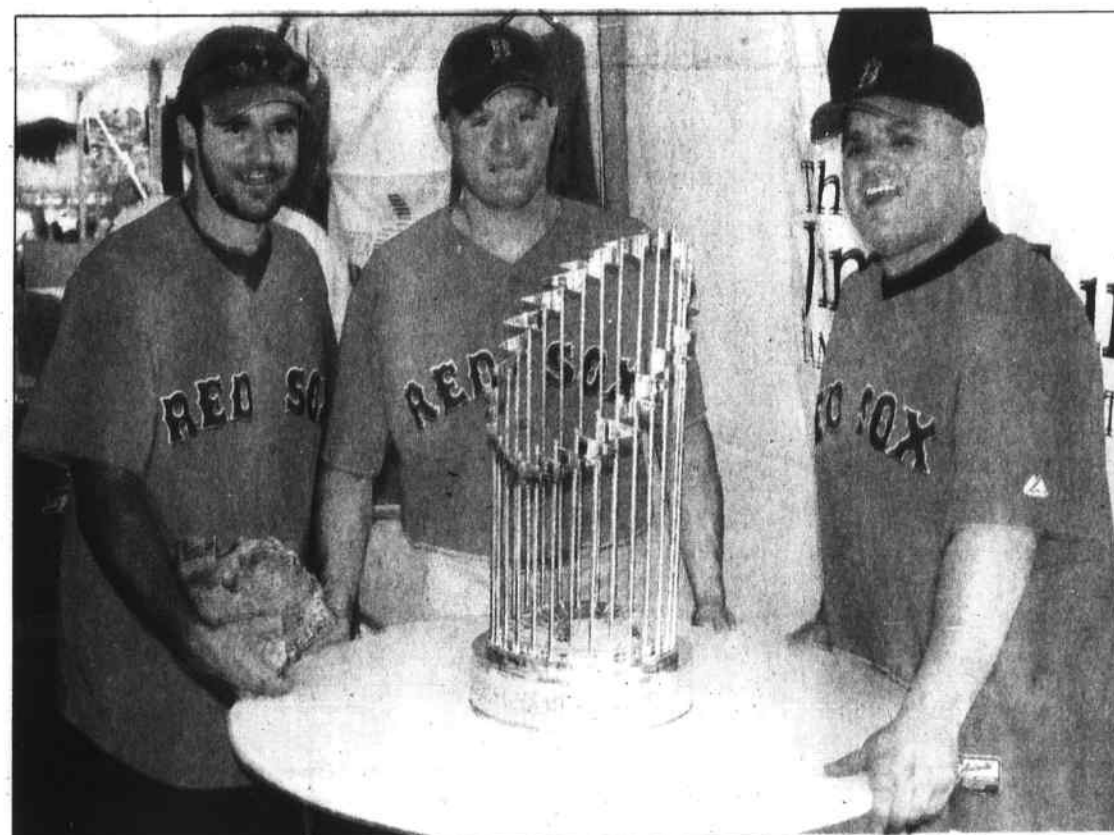

Wade and fellow Red Sox teammate Butch Stearns are both anchors at Fox-25, so not surprisingly, the channel did a piece on the game. Channel 7 was also there, as well as NESN. NESN was there to do a piece on the event that would air on the weekly show, "Red Sox Report."

As for the game itself, Bjorkgren went deep for the Red Sox team. He had two hits to go along with two RBIs and three runs. Wilkinson and Wade each had two hits and two runs. Bobby Cooper had two hits, while Teddy Cooper had two hits and two runs. Nota - a dead-ringer for David Wells - had a double and two RBIs.

All things considered, Cooper hit a home run with the event. He said beforehand that his goal was to raise over $2,000, and he accomplished that. Cooper says he has even bigger plans for next year.

"We'd like to promote (the game) more," he said. "We'd like to hold it at a bigger place. If we promote it right and hold it at a bigger place, the turnout will triple. I would like to hold it at Lelacheur or even Fenway."

Top ten reasons why the Patriots will win No. 4

By LOUIE CIMAGLIA
Sports Correspondent

This Friday, the Patriots will report to training camp. One season removed from their third Super Bowl, much has changed in the Patriots locker room. But that will not stop the Patriots from winning their fourth Super Bowl in six years. Here's ten reasons why the Pats will reach the promised land once again.

10. Historically speaking...

If you recall, the year after the Patriots won their first Super Bowl, they missed the playoffs. Then they won the next two. Last year the Pats bowed out earlier than anyone expected. Expect New England to be fired up when the season opens up against Buffalo, the bumbling New York Jets and the Broncos team that ousted the Pats in last year's divisional playoffs.

9. Money, Money, Money!

Typically, the Patriots do a good job getting everyone in camp on time. Even with the Deion Branch hold out situation escalating, expect it to pass eventually and the Patriots to be the team that it has become to be known: a well-organized unit with no one acting out or complaining publicly. If they resolved the Richard Seymour deal last year, no one should be worried about negotiations. Robert Kraft and company will figure it out eventually.

8. Draft Status

The Pats had a very successful draft, including what the experts are calling "the steal of the draft" Chad Jackson, wide receiver of Florida. Jackson should be able to jump right in to the fold of the offense in a slot position. Laurence Maroney, the Pats first round selection, looks suspiciously like another running back - Corey Dillon.

Moroney is a guy that can run between the tackles, grind out the four yards in a cloud of dust and wear down a defense. Also, he has the speed to get around the end and rack up big yards.

7. A great segway...

Speaking of Dillon, the pick of Moroney so early may do one of two things: light a fire under him and make him have a great year or get in his head and make him a disgruntled, problematic guy he was touted to be in Cincinnati. Many feel Dillon may be in the twilight of his career. However, many thought that Dillon was in the twilight of his career in 2003, his last season as a Bengal. He rushed for a measly 541 yards, and then followed that up with 1,635 yards the next year.

Dillon ran for a little over 700 yards last year. With less of a workload to carry, Dillon may be able to become a force to be reckoned with once again.

6. Tenacious Defense

The Pats are once again stable in all three phases of the defense, with the return of Rodney Harrison to the patchwork secondary. Harrison in addition to Eugene Wilson makes for a great safety tandem. As for the cornerback position, it's not as pretty. There is Asante Samuel, Randall Gay, Ellis Hobbs, and whoever else feels like playing.

For linebackers, Tedy Bruschi is still the rock in the middle, flanked by Mike Vrabel, one of the most underrated defensive players in the league, and the explosive Roosevelt Colvin. Willie McGinest is gone, but the Pats resigned Chad Brown, which gives off the impression that the coaching staff has faith that Brown can pick up the system, something he failed to do last season.

In the trenches, New England can hold their own with anyone. Richard Seymour is one of the best ends in the league. Vince Wilfork will establish himself this year as one of the top nose tackles in the NFL. There is also depth on the line, with Ty Warren, Jarvis Green, and Marquise Hill.

5. The REAL Big Ben

The last memory of Ben Watson Patriot fans can recall is him sprinting down the field to annihilate an exhausted Champ Bailey, who was returning a Tom Brady interception 100 yards to the opposite end-zone. Watson seemed to come into his own at the end of the season, especially in the playoffs, when he torched the Jacksonville Jaguars and proved he was a physical presence in the red zone. Plus, Daniel Graham is still around, giving the option for a two tight-end set. Another bonus, both are excellent blockers.

4. Can Peyton come out to play?

Simply put, Peyton Manning is the Alex Rodriguez of football. He is overpaid, whiny, and has yet to get a championship. The Colts were a better team than the Steelers last year, but they were mentally soft in that farce of a game with the eventual champs. As each year with no Super Bowl appearance passes, it seems more and more clear that Peyton Manning is doomed to a Dan Marino type career. Phenomenal stats, amazing seasons, no rings.

The Patriots can hang with any other team in the AFC without question. The Steelers are having a hectic offseason, with the Ben Rothlisberger NASCAR-style crash and retirements and key departures.

The Bengals cannot count on Carson Palmer's jigsaw puzzle of a knee, not to mention the six criminal actions various players have taken part in before training camp. No one team in the West looks like a serious contender, so it's wide open for the Pats taking.

3. Home Field Advantage

There is no team in football that has a bigger advantage playing at home than the Pats. They have a studly 30-6 record since the stadium's inception. The Razor has possibly surpassed Arrowhead as the most hostile environment for an opposing team. By the way, the Pats have never lost a playoff game at home.

2. The Mad Scientist

Bill Belichick is still the best coach in football. The guy lost Charlie Weis and Romeo Crennel in one year, and still managed to make the playoffs. The master schemer has had a chance to acclimate himself without the other two, and now the league best be aware that they are in trouble.

1. The Best Brady

Simple. Tom Brady is the reason many are predicting another championship ring. He is the most clutch quarterback since Joe Montana, and his stats have been rising every year. Brady can win games now on his own. He was once the scrawny rookie who did what needed to be done to get by. Now he can be the deciding factor in wins and losses. He is the best quarterback in the NFL. Amazingly, Tom Brady doesn't find himself roasting in the national spotlight and doesn't draw any unnecessary attention to himself. He is a cool-headed individual who knows how to win games. There is nothing else you can ask for from a quarterback. But Brady gives more. Hopefully, he will give a reason to celebrate come early February.

Wildcats to face Hornets in Northeast championship

By DAN IGO
Sports Correspondent

LOWELL - The incredible run by the Wilmington Wildcats through the Northeast League playoffs continued on Saturday morning, as they defeated Lowell 9-5 at Shedd Park. Wilmington is now in the championship series against North Reading.

Carlton Lentini got the win, pitching five solid innings. He gave up four runs, three of them earned, on five hits. He walked three and struck out four.

Wilmington started the game hot, scoring three runs in the first inning. Ernie Mello singled on the first pitch of the inning, and Lentini followed that with a single of his own. Eric Legro then ripped a two-run triple to deep right-center to drive both of them in. Charlie Waitt drove in Legro with a single to make the score 3-0.

Lowell came back in the bottom half of the inning with two runs, but Wilmington matched them in the second. Kyle Lunt scored from third early in the inning after Lowell's catcher overthrew the ball to second. Lentini then scored on another Waitt single. Lowell ran themselves out of two outs in their half of the inning, after Lentini picked off a runner at first and catcher Shane Foley threw one out trying to steal second.

The score remained 5-2 until the bottom half of the third, when Lowell put two runs on the board, both coming on a double that was lost in the sun.

Wilmington broke the game open in the fifth with three runs. Waitt led off the inning with his third hit of the day, and Brian Svensson drove him in with a double. Svensson was driven in on an infield single by Lunt. Mello drove in Lunt with a single.

Lentini came out after pitching a scoreless fifth. Svensson came into pitch in the bottom of the sixth, a move that Coach Don Foley was confident making.

"Lentini pitched five strong and I knew with a four run lead that if I brought in Svensson he would pound strikes," said Foley. "Lowell would only be able to win if they managed to get six or seven hits before we got six outs. Svensson just does not walk anyone."

The offensive star of the game was Waitt, who went 4-for-4 with two RBIs and a run. Mello had two hits along with an RBI and a run. Lentini and Svensson also had two hits apiece.

Wilmington ended the year winning six of their last seven games to clinch a playoff spot. Foley said that he is very impressed about how his team closed out the year.

"Teams like Lowell, Chelmsford and North Reading handled us easily early in the season, yet I don't think anyone is playing better than us right now," he said. "We were the better team in this series."

The first game of the championship series was Tuesday at North Reading. The next game will be at the North Intermediate School in Wilmington on Thursday.

Just Waitt and Charlie will come through

By DAN IGO
Sports Correspondent

LOWELL - Charlie Waitt isn't one of the experienced players on Wilmington's Northeast League team, but it is his hitting that has helped propel his squad to the championship series.

Waitt is going into his junior year next year at Wilmington High School. He has come up huge in the last couple of games for the Wildcats, including going 4-for-4 against Lowell Saturday morning. He had two RBIs and a run to go along with his four hits.

Wilmington has gone on quite a run to end the year, winning six out of their last seven games to earn a spot in the playoffs. Waitt said he was a little surprised at how well his team has played.

"I wasn't expecting us to go this far," he said. "We started winning games and all of a sudden we're in the championship series."

Coach Don Foley went into the year not knowing that Waitt was going to be playing on the team. He said he's glad Waitt is in his line-up, because he has come up with some key hits during this stretch run.

"I was asked to find him a spot and didn't know how I would use him but he has hit the ball all season long," Foley said. "He had the key hit in the first game with a three-run double and you saw what he did today. It's my good fortune that he ended up on my team."

Waitt played JV all last year. He said that he hopes to be on varsity next year, but doesn't know how it will play out. He has played second base this year for the Northeast squad, which is a welcome change from what he played on the JV team.

"I played a whole lot of third during JV," he said. "I really didn't play anywhere else. I'm having more fun at second base. I feel comfortable there."

Wilmington had a very successful baseball season last spring, going to the state tournament. Waitt believes that the success the summer team is having can be a huge advantage come spring.

"This success can absolutely carry over," Waitt said. "If this group of kids can do this during the summer, then come spring we'll have a lot of confidence."

Baseball isn't the only sport Waitt competes in at Wilmington High. He also plays golf and hopes to make the varsity basketball team. Although some kids mainly focus on one or two sports in high school, Waitt believes that he efficiently manages playing three. With golf season only a couple of months away, he is ready for the season to begin.

"Last year we had a .500 season," he said. "This year, we lost Zach Ungvasky, which is huge. I'm hoping to be starting two spots behind Jason Evans."

Waitt will be manning second base on Thursday night at North Intermediate Field, when the Wildcats will play host to North Reading in game two of the Northeast League championship series. The first pitch will be thrown at 5:30.

Although they won only one of four games a hit or two either way would have turned the record for the week around.

Woburn 6, Wilmington 5
Hosting the undefeated Woburn Tanners at the Glen Road on Tuesday the 25th, the Wildcats fell behind early on a two out two-run homer by the Tanners' clean-up hitter in the top of the first. The Cats bounced right back in the bottom of the inning to take a 5-2 lead.

With one out Ryan Cocca singled to centerfield and promptly took second on a passed ball and stole third on the very next pitch. A walk to Phil Lentini put runners at first and third. Lentini's steal of second base put the tying run in scoring position. Wayne Knoop then delivered the first big blow for the Wildcats with a base-clearing single to right field to tie up the game at 2-2. A walk to John Keough moved Knoop to second, both runners advancing a base on a wild pitch.

With two out David Caira delivered the second big hit of the inning a two run single to right field. Caira would advance to score the fifth run of the inning on singles by Anthony Capozzi and Andrew Medeiros (rbi).

The game stayed pretty much even as both pitchers settled down until the fourth inning. The Tanners on their second trip around the batting order struck for three more runs to tie the score at 5-5. The score would stay that way after 6 innings and it was off to extra innings.

In the top of the seventh with two outs the third batter in the order for the Tanners launched a triple down the leftfield line and scored on a miscued relay throw trying to cut the runner down at the plate. Not giving in to the undefeated Tanners, the Wildcats mounted a come back of their in the bottom of the inning. David Caira walked with one out and took second and third on consecutive wild pitches. With the tying run on third the Tanners pitcher settled down and struck out the last two Wildcats to preserve the win for Woburn.

The offensive stars for Wilmington were Ryan Cocca who went 2-for-2 with a walk and two stolen bases, Wayne Knoop 2-for-3 but reached base safely all three times and Phil Lentini, David Caira, Mark Caira, Andrew Medeiros and Eric Masiello all who reached base at least twice. Defensively it was another solid effort by John W. Keough, Brandon Wong, Zach Goselin and Matt Curran.

Woburn MVP 3, Wilmington 1
Facing their second undefeated Woburn team in a row the Wildcats traveled to Weafer Park to take on the MVP's. Scoring started in the bottom of the first as the MVP's drew first blood to take a 1 - 0 lead after one. The scoring stayed that way thanks in part to great pitching and unbelievable defense by both the MVP's and the Wildcats.

Wilmington shortstop Phil Lentini was the most active of the game as he had four put outs and three assists of the first nine outs of the game; including a eye popping double play when he ranged far to his left to snag a hard ground ball, tagged the runner leading away from second and threw onto first to complete the play. Even the Woburn parents stood in awe of the Wildcats "gold glove" shortstop.

With the score still at 1-0 after three and half innings the MVP's scored two more times in the bottom of the fourth to take a 3-0 lead. Another sparkling defensive play by the Cats in the inning kept the score close. Wilmington leftfielder Brandon Wong tracked down a long fly ball and relayed a strike to Lentini who then threw to third baseman Ryan Cocca to put the tag down and save another run with a picture perfect play.

Going into the last inning down the 3-0 the never say die Wildcats put a scare into the undefeated MVP's. With two outs Kyle Skinner singled to right and scored the lone Wilmington run on the next pitch. Ryan Cocca launching an RBI triple over the right fielders head, but that's how the game would end with Cocca left at third.

After the game the Woburn coaches told the Wilmington player how impressed they were with their play. As the Wildcats were the first team to hold the MVP's under 15 runs! Joining the hit parade along with Skinner, Cocca and Lentini for the Cats were Wayne Knoop, John Keough and Matt Curran. Along with the outfield play of Brandon Wong, John W. Keough made a nifty catch in right as well as a nice play while playing second base.

Wilmington Americans 15
Wilmington Wildcats 4

On Sunday evening the Wildcats traveled cross-town to play the rival Wilmington American. The American's coming into the game with only one loss, took it to the Wildcats early and often. Strong offense provided by Jake MacIsaac, Nate Grimley, Mark Vercellini, Steve Colangeb and Tyler Vibert kept the Cats behind the whole day. The only bright spot for the Wildcats came in the fifth inning. Not wanting to be shut out the Wildcats bats finally came alive.

After a one out walk to Ryan Cocca, Wayne Knoop hit a rocket to the right-centerfield bushes over the fence at Rotary Park. John Keough then made a bid of his own as his smash landed at the bottom of the fence in the same area as Knoop's blast for a double. David Caira then singled Keough to third and Anthony Capozzi would single him in. Eric Masiello kept things alive with a walk to load the bases. After fouling off several pitches Zach Goselin also took ball four and got the credit for the fourth RBI as Caira crossed the plate.

For the American's Zach Shepard's play behind the plate was spectacular as was the defensive plays of Mike Mullins, Will McGuire, Josh Gray and Dan Sullivan. For the Wildcats the outfield trio of Peter Ammon, Mark Caira and Brandon Wong were steady as always and JW Keough was solid again at second base.

Wilmington 10, Arl. Red 8
The Wildcats lone win of the week cam Monday night at the Boutwell School Field. The back and forth battle between the two teams saw the game with five lead changes and three ties after complete innings.

After going down 2-0 in the first, Kyle Skinner got things rolling for the Cats reaching on an infield error. Unfortunately for Wilmington Skinner was cut down on a great throw from the Arlington catcher on a steal attempt. With one out Ryan Cocca drew a walk, stole a base and moved to third on a passed ball. He scored the first run of the game for the Cats off of the bat of Wayne Knoop as Knoop reached on another Arlington infield error. John Keough then delivered the game-tying hit as he doubled to right scoring Knoop.

In the bottom of the second after Arlington took a 3-2 lead in the top of the inning. Anthony Capozzi drew a two out walk and then manufactured the run himself as he advanced around the bases on three passed balls to tie the score at 3-3.

In the bottom of the third it seemed as though there was an instant replay of the second inning for the Wildcats.

Again down by one run 4-3, this time Brandon Wong reached on a walk and his good base running skills also advanced him home on three passed balls to again tie the score after three at 4-4. To make things a little interesting the Reds decide to score four in the top of the fourth to challenge the Wildcats comeback abilities.

The Cats however were only able to muster up two runs in their half of the inning. A one out walk to Wayne Knoop started things off. John Keough promptly knocked him in on the next pitch on a triple to right field. Keough later scored on a double steal attempt with David Caira getting credit for a steal of second after he walked.

Calling on their closer John Keough to shut down the high powered Arlington offense in the top of the fifth. Keough ran through the first three batters he faced on ten pitches. Setting the Reds down for the first time in order sparked the Wildcats to life in the bottom of the fifth. Four straight walks to Wildcats Eric Masiello, Anthony Capozzi, Zach Goselin and Mark Caira along with a few passed balls put the Cats up 9-8. A one out Walk to Peter Ammon put runners on first and second.

A wild pitch later put Caira at third and Ammon at second. John W. Keough then delivered Mark Caira as an insurance run with a hard shot line drive up the middle for a single and a 10-8 lead. John Keough on for his second inning again made quick work of the Reds retiring them on only eight pitches. Keough finished the game with four strikeouts and picked up his second win of the season. Connor Burke and Phil Lentini also pitched for the Cats giving them two strong innings each.

LEGAL NOTICE

NOTICE OF MORTGAGEE'S
SALE OF REAL ESTATE

By virtue of and in execution of the Power of Sale contained in a certain mortgage given by Linda W. Reed and Dean E. Reed to Mortgage Electronic Registrations Systems, Inc. as nominee for First Guaranty Mortgage Corporation dated 7/21/2003, recorded with Middlesex (Northern District) County Registry of Deeds at Book 16001, Page 180 of which mortgage the undersigned is the present holder for breach of conditions of said mortgage and for the purpose of foreclosing the same will be sold at PUBLIC AUCTION at 11:00 A.M. on August 9, 2006, on the mortgaged premises. The entire mortgaged premises, all and singular, the premises as described in said mortgage:

The land in Wilmington, Massachusetts, further described as a certain parcel of land situated in Wilmington, being Lot A on a plan "Subdivision of Lots 116 to 122 inclusive in Wilmington, Massachusetts, dated June 29, 1959, Dana F. Perkins and Son, Inc., Civil Engineers and Surveyors, Reading, Massachusetts", recorded with Middlesex North Registry of Deeds in Plan Book 93, Plan 45B, bounded and described as follows: Northwestly by Rhodes Street, 71 feet; Northeastly by Glen Road, 110 feet; more or less; Southeastly by Lot 138, 58.8 feet; and Southwestly by Lot 8 on said Plan, 100.62 feet to Rhodes Street and point of beginning. Being the same property conveyed to Linda W. Reed and Dean E. Reed, tenants by the entirety by Deed from Kimberly A. Ferreira recorded 11/30/1995, in Deed Book 7772, Page 82.

Subject to and with the benefit of easements, reservation, restrictions, and taking of record, if any, insofar as the same are now in force and applicable.

In the event of any typographical error set forth herein in the legal description of the premises, the description as set forth and contained in the mortgage shall control by reference.

This property has the address of 94 Glen Road, Wilmington, MA 01887.

Together with all the improvements now or hereafter erected on the property and all easements, rights, appurtenances, rents, royalties, mineral, oil and gas rights and profits, water rights and stock and all fixtures now or hereafter a part of the property. All replacements and additions shall also be covered by this sale.

Terms of Sale: Said premises will be sold subject to any and all unpaid taxes and assessments, tax sales, tax titles and other municipal liens and water or sewer liens and State or County transfer fees, if any there are, and TEN THOUSAND DOLLARS ($10,000.00) in cashier's or certified check will be required to be paid by the purchaser at the time and place of the sale as a deposit and the balance in cashier's or certified check will be due in thirty (30) days, at the offices of Doonan, Graves & Longoria, L.L.C., 100 Cummings Center, Suite 213C, Beverly, Massachusetts, time being of the essence.

The Mortgagee reserves the right to postpone the sale to a later date by public proclamation at the time and date appointed for the sale and to further postpone at any adjourned sale-date by public proclamation at the time and date appointed for the adjourned sale date.

The premises is to be sold subject to and with the benefit of all easements, restrictions, leases, tenancies, and rights of possession, building and zoning laws, encumbrances, condominium liens, if any and all other claim in the nature of liens, if any there be.

In the event that the successful bidder at the foreclosure sale shall default in purchasing the within described property according to the terms of this Notice of Sale and/or the terms of the Memorandum of Sale executed at the time of foreclosure, the Mortgagee reserves the right to sell the property by foreclosure deed to the second highest bidder, providing that said second highest bidder shall deposit with the Mortgagee's attorneys, DOONAN, GRAVES, & LONGORIA L.L.C., 100 Cummings Center, Suite 213C, Beverly, Massachusetts, 01915, the amount of the required deposit as set forth herein within three (3) business days after written notice of the default of the previous highest bidder and title shall be conveyed to the said second highest bidder within twenty (20) days of said written notice.

If the second highest bidder declines to purchase the within described property, the Mortgagee reserves the right to purchase the within described property at the amount bid by the second highest bidder.

The foreclosure deed and the consideration paid by the successful bidder shall be held in escrow by DOONAN, GRAVES, & LONGORIA L.L.C., (hereinafter called the "Escrow Agent") until the deed shall be released from escrow to the successful bidder at the same time as the consideration is released to the Mortgagee, thirty (30) days after the date of sale, whereupon all obligations of the Escrow Agent shall be deemed to have been properly fulfilled and the Escrow Agent shall be discharged.

Other terms to be announced at the sale.

Wilmington track trio compete in Nationals

Three Wilmington Track stars competed at the National Junior Olympic Championship July 25 and 26 in Baltimore Maryland. Nathan Clarkin, Shawn Fahey, and Nick Farnsworth capped their summer season in outstanding fashion. Their efforts in the New England and Regional qualifying meets had earned them spots in the National Championship.

Competing against the country's best athletes brought out the best in the Wilmington throwers and allowed them to bring home two medals in the javelin. Nick Farnsworth followed up his Bay State Game Championship by improving his season best in the javelin to 173 feet. His throw was enough to earn him the Bronze medal in the Intermediate Boys division. It was an extremely close competition with the top three places separated by less than eight feet.

Fellow javelin thrower Shawn Fahey competed in the Young Mens division which included several of the best seniors in the country. Fahey hit 166 feet and took home the eighth place medal against a very talented field. Nathan Clarkin also fared well against an extremely competitive shot put field and improved several places over his original seed.

LEGAL NOTICE

MORTGAGEE'S SALE OF
REAL ESTATE

By virtue of and in execution of the power of sale contained in a certain mortgage given by Peter C. DeGennaro, Trustee of Kansas-Russell Realty Trust, to Saugusbank, a co-operative bank, dated February 23, 2005, and recorded with the Middlesex North District Registry at Book 18433, Page 107, of which the undersigned is the present holder, and for breach of the condition of said mortgage and for the purposes of foreclosing the same, Saugusbank, present holder of said mortgage, will sell at PUBLIC AUCTION at 11:00 a.m., on August 28, 2006, at Lots 958-986 Kansas Road, a/k/a 11 Kansas Rd., Wilmington MA all and the singular, the premises described in said mortgage, to wit:

Certain parcels of land in Wilmington, MA, being those lots bounded by Russell Street, Rhode Island Road, Second Street and Connecticut Road, and being further described as Lots 958 to and including 986 and shown on Plan Book 24, Plan 24, recorded at Middlesex North District Registry of Deeds.

Together with all rights, privileges and easements connected herewith, and subject to restrictions, easements and rights of way of record; and said premises are hereby conveyed subject to any building and zoning law requirements which may be in force and applicable.

Premises to be sold and conveyed subject to and with the benefit of all rights, rights of way, restrictions, easements, covenants, liens or claims in the nature of liens, improvements, public assessments, any and all unpaid taxes, tax titles, tax liens, water and sewer liens and any other municipal assessments or liens or existing encumbrances of record which are in force and are applicable, having priority over said mortgage, whether or not reference to such restrictions, easements, improvements, liens or encumbrances is made in the deed.

Terms of sale: A deposit of five thousand dollars ($5,000.00) by certified or bank check will be required to be paid by the purchaser at the time and place of sale. The balance is to be paid by certified or bank check at the law offices of Oakley, O'Sullivan & Eaton, P.C., 89 Main Street, Andover, MA 01810-3839, within thirty (30) days from the date of sale. Deed will be provided to purchaser for recording upon receipt in full of the purchase price. In the event of an error in this publication, the description of the premises contained in said mortgage shall control.

Other terms, if any, to be announced at the sale.

The undersigned Mortgage Holder reserves the right to reject any and all bids made at the foreclosure sale, to amend or change the terms of the sale by announcement made prior to or at the foreclosure sale and to continue the foreclosure sale to such subsequent date as the Mortgagee may deem advisable.

Car Wash helps soccer teams

Tewksbury Memorial High School Soccer Boosters held a free car wash on Saturday, July 15, 2006 at the Wynn Middle School. The car wash was sponsored by local businesses who support the TMHS Soccer Boosters and to say Thank You to their past and present patrons.

The monies raised at this car wash helped pay for the Girls teams new uniforms (which were more than 8 to 10 years old), to support the Boys program and fund a first ever season ending banquet for both the Boys and Girls teams.

Tewksbury Memorial High School Soccer Boosters came about when Debbie Billings and Sue Boudreau realized the Girls high school soccer program had no support organization. After soliciting interest and support from other player's families as well as the Athletic Director, Bob Aylward, these energetic women soon combined their efforts with the Boys Alumni Soccer Boosters (headed up by Derek Heartquist) and created the Tewksbury Memorial High School Soccer Boosters (TMHS Soccer Boosters).

In eight short months, since the kick-off meeting in November 2005, and prior to the car wash the TMHS Soccer Boosters have successfully held fundraisers and gathered donations to allow them to award the 1st Annual TMHS Soccer Boosters Scholarships this spring to two graduating seniors, one girl and one boy.

Tewksbury Memorial High School Soccer Boosters would like to thank all of the following Sponsors who supported the Free Car Wash: Aim High Gymnastics Academy; Aurora Salon; Cheryl Luongo (American Flag Donation); Crystal's General Store; Daniel Dalton, Attorney; Deli King Restaurant; Dr. Barry Chudnofsky; Dr. Gwen Cugine, DMD; EBN Equipment Service; Frankie's Pizza; French's Restaurant; James Frawley, CPA; Janet A. Cluff, Suburban Plumbing; John McKenzie, CPA; Mango II; Maribellas, Bakery; Rockingham Silk Screening; Shady Lane Art & Photography; Shawsheen Animal Hospital; Sooner Lube;

Suburban Heating & Plumbing of Tewksbury Inc.; TD Banknorth N.A.; Tewksbury Auto Repair & Limousine Service; Tewksbury Paint & Hardware Inc.; The Bury; The Sky Box Restaurant & Sports Bar; U-Store It; Wells Fargo

The TMHS Soccer Boosters also held a raffle ticket fundraiser, raffling off four box seat tickets to a Red Sox game. This fundraiser was a huge success. A special "Thank You" to Beacon Systems of 500 Clark Rd, Tewksbury for donating the Red Sox tickets.

To learn more about the TMHS Soccer Boosters visit their website at www.eteamz.com/tmhsredmensoccer <<http://www.eteamz.com/tmhsredmensoccer>>. Check out the awesome action pictures from last years Boys and Girls fall season, as well as pictures from the car wash. The web site also tracks all of the soccer team's activities, game schedules, MVC standings and the accomplishments of the high school soccer players. Donations can be made directly on the web site.

Tewksbury High boys soccer coach Steve Levine as well as many of the boys and girls high school soccer players, held a Car Wash recently to help raise money for the two programs.

9th Annual YMCA Benefit Golf Tournament

READING, MA - The excitement is building at the Burbank YMCA for the 9th Annual Benefit Golf Tournament. Mark your calendars for Friday, September 15th at the Thomson Country Club in North Reading. Thomson Country Club is a private course.

The Golf Tournament is held yearly to raise money for the YMCA ACCESS Program. The ACCESS program is a financial assistance program used to help those individuals and families less fortunate. The Benefit Golf Tournament is a 7:30 am Shot Gun start with day of registration starting at 6:45 am. It is an 18 hole event, scramble format. There will be prizes awarded to the top three finishing teams. There will be prizes and raffles including a Brand New 2007 automobile for the hole-in-one prize, male and female closest to the pin and male and female longest drive to name a few. Each participant will receive a sleeve of golf balls and tees, limited to the first 72 golfers.

Golfers may sign up as individuals or in a foursome. Registration includes 18 holes of golf, lunch at Thomson Country Club, use of a golf cart and complimentary gifts.

There are different ways to contribute to the YMCA Golf Tournament.

The first and most enjoyable would be to play. Enjoy 18 holes with people like you, interested, involved and ready to play.

The cost for a day of golf, lunch and raffle prizes is $150 per player or $600 for a foursome. For interested parties or if you would like to receive more information about the YMCA's 9th Annual Benefit Golf Tournament, please contact Dave Witkus at 781-944-9622 x224 or Laurie Spagnuolo at 781-944-9622 x225.

Theodora Alice Ruggles Kitson

The Hiker

Theodora Alice Ruggles Kitson (1871-1932) had to change her name to Theo Kitson in order to pursue her art of sculpture in the late 1800's and early 1900's. However, her perseverance won out and pieces of the Brookline born artist's work are now on display all over the United States, including Wakefield and Woburn.

By DOUG WOOD-BOYLE

In both communities, The Hiker, a memorial to Spanish American War Veterans, is on display in prominent places. In Wakefield, the statue is seen seemingly to guard the downtown area from its perch at the southern end of the Common and in Woburn it also stands in the beautifully landscaped Common, across from City Hall.

According to research materials, "As a young child (Kitson) displayed artistic talent, but when her mother attempted to enroll her in the Boston Museum School she was informed that the program did not accept female students. Eventually she began studying with sculptor Henry Hudson Kitson in 1886; she married him in 1893.

In 1895 Kitson was the first woman to be admitted to the National Sculpture Society. She is also well-known for her statue of Revolutionary War Hero Thaddeus Kosciuszko, which graces Boston Common.

Woburn historian, author and attorney John McElhiney said that the Hiker was the second Spanish American War Memorial and in 1930 replaced a granite boulder that had been placed on the Common in 1910. The plaque from that Boulder was saved and is now at the base of the Hiker.

According to McElhiney, who recently conducted a tour of the Woburn Common for the newly formed Woburn Historical Society, the Common did not take shape until the 1820's. Prior to that time it was the site of the First and Second Congregational Church structures.

Ironically, the Woburn Common honors the brave citizens who gave their lives in all the wars, except the War of Independence and the unpopular War of 1812. A Revolutionary War Memorial does stand at the traffic island on Main Street at Plympton Street.

"The Civil War Monument was the first they put in," McElhiney said in an interview. "They dedicated it in 1869."

The piece was designed by Martin Milmore (1844-1883), and stands eight feet tall. It was placed in the center of the Common and, as in the case of most Civil War statues in the North, it faces south (the opposite is usually true of southern memorials to the Civil War).

According to McElhiney, 82 names of people who died in the War Between the States were divided over the various panels. They are broken down by those who died in battle, those who died as prisoners of war and those who died from disease.

A biography of the artist notes that Milmore was a celebrated sculptor who created the Roxbury Soldier's Monument (1867) in Forest Hills Cemetery and the Soldiers' and Sailors' Monument (1877) which stands on Boston Common.

According to McElhiney, the City, through the efforts of local pharmacist Arthur Witcher was able to acquire a piece of the USS Maine, which was sunk by the Spanish at the start of the Spanish American War. The piece was received in 1912 and dedicated in 1913 during a Fourth of July celebration.

McElhiney said, "The (ventilator) cowl weighs 315 pounds and looks like it was in an explosion."

It stands on the northeast corner of the common and is enclosed in a glass case.

The World War I Memorial was dedicated in 1926. McElhiney noted that the dedication came only after veterans groups and the City held many debates on fundraising methods and the design of the memorial.

The memorial stands 16 feet tall and was designed by the local firm Roessler and Sons, which is still in business on Salem Street. That firm also designed the memorial to Harry Nelson Pillsbury, a former chess master now buried in Reading's Laurel Hill Cemetery.

One of the Chief Speakers at the dedication of the World War I Memorial was former Boston Mayor and Massachusetts Governor James Michael Curley. Curly was a good friend of then Woburn Mayor James Duffy and according to a Woburn Daily Times article of the event, close to 50,000 people were in attendance.

McElhiney, who gathered much of his information while writing his book, "Woburn: A Past Observed," said that the Memorial contains the names of 34-40 people who died in the war or later on as the result of the effects of nerve gas used during World War I. There are a total of 59 names on the Memorial, including any Woburn born veteran who died before the Memorial was created.

According to McElhiney, "As a result of the squabbling by veterans' groups after World War I, the United Veterans' Council was formed in 1928 to avoid squabbling in the future."

This eventually led to a World War II Memorial being established in 1944 before the end of that war.

"In 1943 the United Veterans' Council wanted to get the ball rolling early," McElhiney said.

The group picked a site on the Common that was close to the center. Then they went out and started fundraising.

The memorial is a series of

"MIAMI VICE" FULL OF ADRENALINE

IN THIS HANDOUT PHOTO PROVIDED BY UNIVERSAL PICTURES, vice detectives Ricardo Tubbs, played by Jamie Foxx, left, and Sonny Crockett, played by Colin Farrell work undercover in the film "Miami Vice." The film took in $25.2 million, compared to $20.5 million for "Pirates of the Caribbean: Dead Man's Chest," according to studio estimates Sunday, July 30, 2006. (AP Photo/Universal Pictures /Frank Connor,HO)

"MIAMI VICE"
GRADE: ***

What the movie "Miami Vice" may lack in substance, it more than makes up for in pure adrenaline.

The TV series its based on was an hour-long fashion-filled music video that happened to feature detectives. Now 15 years later, the film has no fashion to speak of and no music of note - except a heavy-metal recording of "In the Air Tonight" over the end credits.

The film's grim tone, grainy look and jagged plotting may be the opposite of the original series, but it hangs its hat on a much more realistic look at the drug culture in Miami.

The film is made in the image of characters who are never honest about who they are and who do not allow themselves to be made vulnerable, living in a world where not killing someone is considered an act of tenderness. Colin Farrell and Jamie Foxx are Miami undercover vice cops who infiltrate a Colombian drug ring to ferret out a federal informant.

The movie resembles "Heat," another crime drama by writer-director Michael Mann, who produced the TV series.

But Mann isn't going for an Oscar here, he's simply trying to tell a gritty cops and robbers story. Its apparent that this was the true vision he once had for the show, before the network executives got their hands on it. Had the show been debuting in 2006 rather than the 1980s, it probably would have landed on a network like HBO, where the typical FCC constraints don't exist.

There are fast cars and factor boats. And there is as much steam as there is violence.

"CLERKS II"
GRADE: ***

The type of jokes you'd be embarrassed to tell anyone except your closest friends and, even then, only when you're out of earshot of everyone else, are shouted from the rafters in "Clerks II."

Helen Keller, movie star fantasies, many things that happen behind closed doors - these are the topics in the "Clerks II" script. Juvenile? Yes. Silly? Yes. But guess what - it's also often hilarious.

"Clerks II" returns writer/director Kevin Smith to Randal and Dante, the shiftless characters he created in the original "Clerks" more than a decade ago. They have graduated from working in a crummy convenience store to working in a crummy fast-food restaurant. But in all other ways their development remains arrested.

Smith has also matured. In "Clerks II," he shows he has figured out how to use the camera to tell stories. And he has created a character, a restaurant manager played by Rosario Dawson, who fits into the comic book shop-obsessive world of Randal and Dante but who also seems like she hasn't spent her entire life in her parents' basement, hunched over a television with the collector's edition of "Lord of the Rings" playing on a permanent loop.

Dawson broadens the appeal of the profane "Clerks II" beyond its obvious fan base because she makes the bestiality jokes seem oddly sweet. She is smart, funny and all but irresistible here. In fact, there's a flirty scene with her dancing to the Jacksons' "ABC" on a rooftop that I suspect possesses the magical power to make anyone who watches it fall in love with her.

"LITTLE MAN"
GRADE: **

The idea of a baby beating up a grown-up is funny, and from this idea comes "Little Man," a comedy entirely centered on a shrunken version of Marlon Wayans' head. He, from the neck up, plays a 2-foot-6 con named Calvin Sims, who masquerades as an abandoned baby in order to infiltrate the home of a yuppie couple (Shawn Wayans, Kerry Washington) to steal back an enormous diamond.

Technically it's an impressive feat: Wayans' head - in a ruffly baby bonnet - is superimposed onto the body of a child actor. Dressed in footed pajamas and pastel sweaters, he's still a tough guy (his would-be parents are puzzled as to why their baby has tattoos), and it's occasionally a decent sight gag to see this tiny figure mix it up with the various bad guys chasing the diamond.

But "Little Man" quickly sags like a loaded diaper. The Wayans brothers (the movie was directed by Keenen Ivory Wayans, and written by Keenen, Marlon and Shawn) fill the empty spaces with breast-feeding jokes, diaper jokes, pointless car chases. Buried under all this is a rather sweet story about families, but it's hard to see it amongst all the tastelessness.

"Little Man" has little wit; it's good for a few giggles but will be quickly forgotten.

"PIRATES OF THE
CARIBBEAN: DEAD
MAN'S CHEST"
GRADE: ****

"Pirates of the Caribbean: Dead Man's Chest," is the swashbuckling sequel to 2003's "Pirates of the Caribbean: The Curse of the Black Pearl," with a third its DIFFERENT By How?

There are seven differences in the second picture. Can you spot them?

ANSWERS: STONE, TAIL, ARM, LEAF, EAR, BUSH, TREE.

film will set sail next year.

Director Gore Verbinski has spun sea-worthy tale on this voyage. Summer movie audiences, "Dead Man's Chest" is truly worthy of your doubloons and galleons and pieces of eight.

It's that tawdry buccaneer Johnny Depp who'll have you pounding your peg leg on the theater floor in salute. Swaying around in a constant state of controlled bewilderment, three sheets into the wind, his turn as Sparrow is the prize of the seven seas, equal if not superior to the performance that won him an Oscar nomination in the first film. Depp is the center of the mayhem, and its the other aspects of the spectacle that circle him like sharks.

The story has more twists than fishing line caught in a gale. The humor and dialogue shall blow ye down, although some of the plotting is darker than the ocean on a moonless night. The visuals are eye-popping, and may require you to wear a pirate's eye patch when you're done.

Keira Knightley makes for a daunting buccaneer as British society fixture Elizabeth Swann. On the verge of her wedding to Will Turner (Orlando Bloom), an unscrupulous government official trumps up charges against the lovebirds and sends them to prison.

Will is swindled into chasing down Sparrow, a fugitive at sea who's got his own problems. Legendary ocean phantom Davy Jones (Bill Nighy) has handed Sparrow the black spot, a warning that he's cleaned out a spot in his locker for our beloved anti-hero.

So grab yourself a sea ration and a bottle of rum, or a soda and popcorn, is that's more your thing, and drop anchor with this summer treasure. Aye-aye!

"SUPERMAN RETURNS"
GRADE: ****

In "Superman Returns," the Man of Steel makes his first appearance in nearly two decades to save the day, the planet, and Hollywood's dwindling box office receipts.

To head this new edition, director Bryan Singer (the first two "X-Men" movies) selected Brandon Routh, a charismatic and almost unknown young actor. Routh, who at times looks eerily like Christopher Reeve on screen, performs well enough but the true stars of this film are its many special effects gurus and production designers.

Director Singer, who turned down the third "X-Men" to take the helm here, successfully renders the engaging story created by himself and several other credited screenwriters. As

Boating & You

Things to know before you go

by Tom Lucet

The warm weather that New Englanders relish is upon us and boat enthusiasts in particular can be found spending a great deal of time outdoors.

Boating enthusiasts are urged to always check the weather forecast before setting sail, whether it's in a simple canoe or in a luxury yacht. Rain showers can be a nuisance, while thunderstorms can prove deadly, not to mention very frightening for even seasoned boaters.

Marinas and yacht clubs typically display stormy weather condition flags or pennants when a storm moves in as a way to alert boaters.

Last spring, my wife and first mate decided to purchase a new canoe that would fit perfectly atop our vehicle. So before we made the final purchase, we comparison shopped and perused publications and stores to ensure that our selection would be the right one for us.

Movies

advertised, Superman does return from his five year journey in search of any remnants of his home planet and immediately lands in a conflict with arch-nemesis Lex Luthor, played both menacingly and amusingly by Kevin Spacey, who won his first Oscar working with Singer in "The Usual Suspects."

Singer begins slow, taking his time chronicling Superman's awkward transformation back into his Clark Kent identity. Meanwhile, Luthor assembles what he needs to dominate the planet.

Even after the lines have been drawn, however, the story throws in some unexpected curves. The narrative also pauses to give the characters enough background to make them fully rounded humans. The palpable personal chemistry between Superman and Lois Lane still hovers near the solve the illegal worker situation as millions begin streaming out of the country to flee this film.

Nacho Libre is a sleeper hold on the careers of all involved.

Please Recycle This Newspaper

We ultimately purchased a 12-foot fiberglass canoe, weighing 50 pounds, with a passenger and equipment weight limit of 800 pounds. But the shopping experience led us to realize that buying the canoe is just the first step!

There's an array of publications and videos out on the market for canoe enthusiasts who may be looking for a new waterway to visit.

New boat owners also have to purchase an array of safety equipment, depending on what type of boat they'll be using. Personal flotation devices are always a must and seasoned boaters should also remember to replace old and damaged PFD's periodically.

Canoes and kayaks are a favorite among outdoor enthusiasts because they're easy to transport and store since they're relatively lightweight and small in size. Furthermore, these smaller boats can go nearly anywhere a person can travel, meaning you can explore many areas that would be off-limits to a larger boat.

Before departing for a day on the water, it's recommended that you double check that you have all of the items you'll need for your trip, such as drinking water, a portable radio or iPod, a picnic lunch, fishing gear and license, extra paddles, lifejackets and life saving devices, and a cell phone.

For locals who are interested in canoeing but really need a few lessons or some practice in order to build that confidence, consider signing-up for lessons which can be found at very affordable prices.

Anyone who is new to the sport of canoeing or kayaking may also want to consider trying their hand at the sport for a season before purchasing all of your own equipment. Day rentals are a good option for these folks.

Whatever your boating pleasure this summer, always keep safety at the top of the list. Enroll in a boating safety course, as this will ensure that you know all of the basics, in addition to the "rules of the road."

IMPROV' SKILLS ON ALL FRONTS

Obsessed in Woburn

"Local talent Jeff DePaoli is putting his far-ranging performing and producing skills to work onstage with a musical cabaret entitled, 'My Obsession with TV and More,' which made its one-night-only World Premiere at the Improv Asylum in Boston," notes the Woburn edition of the "Daily Times Chronicle."

"DePaoli, a Woburn High School (2000) and Emerson College (2004) graduate, calls the cabaret a continuation of 'The Jeff DePaoli Show,' his own entertainment-themed talk show which airs on the Emerson Channel, online at www.JeffShow.com, and on Boston Cable channel Boston Neighborhood Network."

"On his talk show, DePaoli interviews stars such as Weird Al Yankovic, Broadway actor John Tartaglia, and 'Wicked' author Gregory Maguire. Hilarious skits and sideshows also feature in this do-it-yourself homage to 'The Rosie O'Donnell Show.'"

"The death of the Rosie O'Donnell Show was the birth of the Jeff DePaoli Show," said DePaoli.

"DePaoli, an avid Broadway, television, and film fan brought elements of his talk show into his cabaret by using video clips from 'The Jeff DePaoli Show' in his show at the Improv Asylum."

"DePaoli sang a variety of songs from musicals, films, and television and tied them all together with the TV theme."

"In reality, I do have an obsession with TV, and I feel as though it is a highly underappreciated art form," said DePaoli.

Commended in North Reading

"Over 40 years of service on the North Reading Police Department came to an end when Police Chief Henry J. 'Hank' Purnell stepped down," notes the "North Reading Transcript."

"Purnell joined the department in 1966 as a patrolman and had been Chief since 1984. He is 65 years old, the mandatory retirement age, so he officially stepped down."

"Purnell was a patrolman from 1966 to 1970, working the streets at night. From 1970 to 1973 he was promoted and in 1973 he was promoted to Sgt. Detective."

"He was named Police Lieutenant in 1980, acting Chief in 1984 following the retirement of Gordon Berridge and permanent Chief in 1985.

"Town Administrator Greg Balukonis publicly thanked Purnell for his four decades of service as well as his willingness to assist in the process of selecting his replacement."

"I want to commend him for a job well done," said Balukonis.

"I definitely miss it after more than 40 years," Purnell told the Transcript. "It's been a big part of my life. It's been a great life."

"Originally from the city and coming from a family of police officers, Purnell fondly recalled the sense of culture shock when he came here 40 years ago and how small the town was at the time."

"I couldn't believe it," he recalled.

"It's been a great thing. I love this town..."

Going strong in Wilmington

"Have you ever wondered if those knick-knacks gathering dust are collectibles in disguise?" notes the "Wilmington Town Crier."

"Have you often suspected that old chest of drawers is really a valuable antique? Have you wished that you knew someone who could help you clear out Mom and Dad's attic as they move to a smaller house? Joe Bayles would be the man to call."

"Wilmington resident Bayles has been an auctioneer and appraiser for over 20 years. Licensed and bonded with the Commonwealth of Massachusetts, Bayles has a keen eye for what's treasure and what's trash."

"I'm a collector myself," Bayles said. "I collect items such as door stops, advertising thermometers, old signs and Black Americana."

"Collecting appears to be a family affair."

"My wife, Denise, collects dolls and children's prints," Bayles said. "My daughter, Jenn, collects Shelley bone china and my son, Joe, is interested in pottery and postcards. And I've always liked buying and selling."

"So he expanded a much-loved hobby into a family business."

"Joey does all of the heavy lifting and packing," Bayles said. "Jenn works at the store and takes care of all the paperwork."

"We offer a number of services including personal appraisals, probate appraisals, auctioneering, house cleanouts, estate purchases and sales. We will take your goods on consignment and sell them either at auction or in our store, the Woburn Center Thrift Store. When all is said and done and you don't know how to get rid of what's left, we offer trash removal service."

"Joe holds public auctions, on average, three times a year."

"These are really exciting," Bayles said. "There's always a surprise at an auction. You never really know what will sell and what price they'll command. I once had a really beat up, filthy rug that I would have thrown away, but it was purchased by a man for $4,700. As it turned out, this rug was actually a very rare Turkish oriental. We have all kinds of things - paintings, old toys, antique furniture, Roseville pottery. What we don't sell at auction or through the store, we will either return to the owner or donate to charity."

"And speaking of charity, Bayles gives much of his time doing appraisals and benefit auctions for places like the Tewksbury Senior Center, the Billerica Library and the Chelmsford Art Society...."

THREE FOR THE AGES

Two for the money (Lynnfield)

"Exemplars" provide opportunities for students to problem solve and explain their thinking," notes the Lynnfield "Summer Street News."

"They are aligned with 'Everyday Mathematics' and Massachusetts mathematical standards. 'Exemplar' pioneered the field of performance assessment tasks that meet national standards to improve assessment and instruction." (Exemplar* 2004) The November, 2000, Massachusetts Mathematics Curriculum Framework defines problem solving as:

"Both a means of developing a student's knowledge of mathematics and a critical outcome of good mathematics education. As such, it is an essential component of the curriculum. A mathematical problem, as distinct from an exercise, requires the solver to search for a method for solving, therefore, requires an understanding of the relevant concepts, procedures, and strategies. To become good problem solvers, students need many opportunities to formulate questions, model problem situations in a variety of ways, generalize mathematical relationships, and solve problems in both mathematical and everyday contexts. (MA Mathematics Framework, 2000, pg. 4)

"Exemplar" rubrics use analytic assessment criteria to assess problem-solving and communication skills in mathematics using real-world problems for instruction. 'Problem solving steps: Read the problem, highlight the important information, what do you know and need to find out, and plan how to solve the problem. When planning to solve the problem, what skills are needed, and what strategies can you use, and what ideas will help you?' (Exemplar*, 2001, pg. 14) Exemplars* have been adapted to encompass authentic learning through-

Two for the road (Woburn)

"Woburn's most decorated Olympian, its most successful athletic program and its wildly popular Super Bowl championship team were all honored by the City Council at its regular meeting," notes the Woburn edition of the "Daily Times Chronicle."

"The main attraction may have been Courtney Kennedy, a defenseman for the U.S. women's hockey team, which in February won the bronze medal at the Winter Olympics in Torino, Italy."

"Kennedy was also a member of the U.S. team that won a silver medal in the 2002 Olympics in Salt Lake City."

"Ward 7 Alderman Raymond Drapeau said he remembered 'watching (Kennedy) growing up as a young child' in their neighborhood and praised her for being a pioneer in her sport, which is one of the fastest-growing in the country."

"The presence of the Woburn High girls hockey team, which won its third state championship in four seasons, was not lost on Drapeau."

"She's an inspiration for other girls and young women," said Drapeau.

"The Woburn High girls hockey team has become something of a dynasty after defeating Canton, 4-0 to win the Div. 1 state championship. The Tanners also won the Div. 2 crown in 2003 and their first Div. 1 title in 2004. The only time Woburn didn't win a state championship, in 2005, the Tanners played in the state championship game."

"Also honored for a magnificent season was the Woburn High football team, which after losing its first game to Acton-Boxborough, reeled off 12 straight wins, the last of which was a 34-7 victory over Newton North in the Eastern Mass. Div. 1A Super Bowl at a frigid Marciano Stadium in Brockton in December...."

One for the district (Reading)

"The local School District is in the top 16 percent of 2,800 districts across the nation, according to a ranking released by Expansion Management Magazine," notes the Reading edition of the "Daily Times Chronicle."

"Superintendent Patrick Schettini told the Committee, 'Unlike many other educational ratings, which equate excellence to the level of public funding received, the Education Quotient focuses primarily on results. It includes data on spending, teacher salaries and the socioeconomics for the surrounding communities, but the most important factors are test scores and graduation rates.'"

"This is the fifteenth year that Expansion Management Magazine has been conducting its surveys of 2,800 school districts nationally. The results are distributed to 45,000 executives of large corporations that have indicated they are expanding into new areas."

"In his presentation, Schettini said, 'The magazine rates school districts as a way of providing its readers with a basis for comparing the type of workforce they are likely to encounter.'"

"The ratings are based on three major categories:

glass panels framed by brick work and when it was built contained the names of about 2,900 citizens of Woburn who were still fighting or had been listed as killed or missing in action. Gold stars were placed next to the names of the 29 soldiers, sailors and airmen who had died as a result of the war; that number now stands at 79.

McElhiney said, "The veterans had to be from Woburn at the time of their service. No names were added after of people who moved to Woburn."

A small granite monument was placed in the Common to honor those who served in the Korean War. A total of seven people died in that war; seven in action; two died as prisoners of war and one died when his ship was struck by a typhoon.

The Korean War Memorial was not dedicated until 1978.

McElhiney said, "It was called the 'Forgotten War.'"

On the other hand, a small stone memorial was dedicated to those fighting in Vietnam in 1969. The memorial was a gift of the Woburn High School Class of 1969.

The gift was made to honor John Frongillo, a graduate of Woburn High School who was killed in May of that year. Frongillo's brother Ralph was the president of the Class of '69.

The stone included the names of 12 Woburn residents who had died up to the dedication. One of those names was Charles McMahon, one of the last two Marines to be killed in action.

In the early 1990's the City bought a marble base to add to the memorial and the original stone was placed on that.

McElhiney notes that women who have served in the armed forces during times of war have not been forgotten by the City of Woburn. In 2000 a Memorial depicting women serving in all branches of the services was placed in the southern side of the Common, near City Hall.

McElhiney is only one of several interesting speakers who have made presentations to the Woburn Historical Society. The presentations are open to the public and are usually held on the second Monday of the month in the First Congregational Church on Main Street, about one block south of the Common.

KIDSTOCK IN WAKEFIELD AUGUST 4 AND 18

Performers with Kidstock will be performing at the Beebe Library in Wakefield on Fridays, August 4 and 18. All performances, which will begin at 10:30 a.m., will be held inside the library's Lecture Hall.

Due to the limited space combined with the popularity of these shows, carriages will not be permitted inside the Lecture Hall during these two different productions, which are designed for children ages three and older.

ARTS FESTIVAL IN LEXINGTON AUGUST 4

A rock/jazz and vocal concert, a creative theater presentation, a magic show and a digital video presentation will be the featured attractions at the annual Minuteman Regional Summer School Arts Festival on Friday evening, August 4 from 7 to 9 p.m. at the school. The festival will also include art exhibits by the students of Norma Regillo and Kate Crosby and an arts and crafts exhibit by the students of Sheila Murphy.

The rock/jazz ensemble will be led by Paul Ahlstrand. The vocal performances will be under the direction of Ann Dolan, the creative performances will be led by Susan Yoniak, and the digital video movies are productions of the students of Bruce Girouard.

Performing in the magic show will be the students of Max Nover, who has won several awards for his presentations in the greater Boston area. He is a member of the Society of Young Magicians.

Admission to the Arts Festival is free, and the public is invited to attend. People may contact Minuteman's Summer School Office at 781-861-7150 or www.minuteman.org.

RAIN FOREST REPTILES DEMO AUGUST 8

On Tuesday, August 8 local teens will have the opportunity to meet some exotic creatures in the Rain Forest Reptiles live animal demonstration, scheduled to begin at 2 p.m. at the Beebe Library, 345 Main Street in Wakefield.

For more information on this and other events, visit the library's website at www.wakefieldlibrary.org.

FALL ADULT-ONLY DUDE RANCHES

Guest ranches are ever popular as family vacation destinations, but members of the Dude Ranchers' Association recognize that adults also value time to themselves.

As a result, more and more guest ranches are offering special adult-only programs, says Colleen Hodson, executive director of the Dude Ranchers' Association in Cody, Wyoming.

"At least forty percent of our member ranches set aside the time for adults," Hodson says. "It's definitely a growing trend in ranch vacations."

Some ranches set aside a month, others a week and most all are held in the spring or fall. "Fall is an ideal time to visit," Hodson says. "Not only to take in the season's colors, but because the summer crowds are gone."

For a complete listing of ranches that offer adult-only programs or to request a free catalog, call 866-399-2339, e-mail info@dude-ranch.org or visit www.dude-ranch.org.

NORTHEAST PAC PLANS EXCITING FUNDRAISER

The Northeast Parent Advisory Council is making plans for an exciting 2007 school arship fundraiser. Each year, several students are presented financial awards as a result of the fundraising efforts of the PAC. This year, alone, over $11,000 was given to graduating seniors.

Next year's event will consist of a "taster's delight" food court and creative arts festival for the whole family. The following vendors will include: crafters, food/restaurant establishments; sports collectors.

Accomplished performers will be on hand to entertain patrons. They will include local talents along with surprise guests.

Vendors and performers who would like further information call 781-246-0810, x1643 or email gmezikofsky@northeast.tec.ma.us.

VOLUNTEER WITH HOMELESS CHILDREN
Horizons for Homeless Children is seeking fun-loving, dependable people to play and develop relationships with children living in family homeless shelters in northeastern Massachusetts.

A commitment of one 2-hour shift per week is required for at least 6 months. The next training will be held on Tuesday, August 1 and Wednesday, August 2 from 6 to 9 p.m.

For more information about the program, or to register for a training visit www.horizons-forhomelesschildren.org or call 978-557-2182.

LIFE LONGEVITY AND GENES

Boston University Medical Center researchers are conducting a study on the roles that genes and other family-related factors might play in exceptional longevity among family members.

Researchers are seeking families with at least two living members aged 90 or older and their living children who reside in Massachusetts and neighboring parts of New Hampshire, Maine, Connecticut and Rhode Island.

Trained clinical staff members will meet with study participants in their homes to ask questions about their family and health history and to conduct some physical assessments. Study participants will also be asked for a small blood sample to obtain genetic information.

Interested parties should call BUMC's Long Life Family Study recruitment office toll free at 1-888-333-6327, or visit www.bumc.bu.edu/centenarian.

PHILLIPS ACADEMY SUMMER INTERVIEWS

Phillips Academy is conducting interviews now through September 4 for local students planning to apply for admission to the 2007-08 school year. Each application to Phillips Academy is required to have a personal interview as part of the admission process.

In response to an unprecedented demand last year for fall interviews, the Office of Admission is encouraging local families to take advantage of their proximity to Phillips Academy and come to campus during the summer for an interview.

Interviews and student-guided tours are being offered from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. Monday and Friday, and from 9 - 11 a.m. Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday. These visits provide time to learn about the school and to speak with admission counselors and student tour guides.

All summer tour guides are current day students who are eager to share their perspectives and experiences. The Office of Admission will host two open houses (one late fall, the other in mid-January 2007) so local families can visit while school is in session.

To schedule an interview and tour, please call the Phillips Academy Office of Admission at 978-749-4053.

PEABODY MUSEUM UPCOMING EXHIBITIONS

New and upcoming exhibitions at the Peabody Essex Museum include "Of Gods and Mortals, Traditional Art from India" ongoing from July 15.

In India, art plays an integral role in the structure of daily life. Paintings, sculpture, textiles and other art forms are used in religious practices and to express prestige and social position.

The Peabody Essex Museum has recently tripled its gallery space for Indian art in order to reveal the rich diversity of the country's artistic tradition.

Featuring works from the 1800s to the present, this new installation includes the delicate embroideries, fine portraits and devotional images prized by maharajas, merchants, farmers and laborers.

The Peabody Essex Museum is located in Salem. For more information call 978-745-9500.

THE 2006 LOWELL QUILT FESTIVAL

The New England Quilt Museum, the only in the region dedicated solely to the study and preservation of American quilt making, proudly presents the 2006 Lowell Quilt Festival, a Citywide Celebration of Quilts, August 3 - 6.

The biennial weekend event pays homage to the ever growing interest in quilt making, and finds its way into nearly every city block of historic downtown Lowell, the birthplace of the modern textile industry in America.

A truly walkable city, Lowell offers a fascinating cultural and historical background to view,

Have your older
U.S. Savings
Bonds stopped
earning interest?

Many Savings Bonds issued prior to 1970 have reached final maturity and are no longer earning interest. By visiting www.savingsbonds.gov, you can check out the Savings Bond Calculator—a FREE program that tells you the current value of your bonds, when they increase in value, and when they stop earning interest.

• Savings Bonds purchased prior to December 1965 stop earning interest 40 years from the issue date.

• Savings Bonds and Notes purchased after November 1965 stop earning interest 30 years from the issue date.

If your Savings Bonds are no longer earning interest, you should redeem them at your local financial institution. Or, you may exchange them for Series HH Bonds for up to one year past final maturity and continue to defer the accrued interest for federal income tax purposes.*

Air conditioning: repair or replace

To repair or to replace? That is the question, particularly when it comes to the air conditioning system inside your home. Since newer systems are more energy efficient, it sometimes makes more sense to replace a system rather than spend money on costly repairs.

Industry averages suggest that an air conditioner should last 12 to 15 years, as long as you have a qualified technician perform regular preventive maintenance and service.

When a system is young, it may be cost-effective to make simple repairs that can prolong the life of the system. However, replacing a system may be the best solution for the bigger problems that can result from an older system. In either case, comparing the price of repairs to those associated with replacement fees may help you decide what to do.

Last week's Sampler located in Tewksbury

Beautifully situated atop an acre+ of gently shaded, tranquil grounds, this exceptional, custom-built contemporary has 3,100 square feet of living area inside and an impressive "country club-style" retreat out back with its lovely in-ground pool, patio, cabana, deck, and meticulous landscape.

A perfect blend of land and home, this property is located on a serene, private cul-de-sac. The home, located in Tewksbury, is listed for $624,900 with ERA Andrew Realty's Wakefield office and may be privately viewed by calling 781-246-3337 or visiting www.ERAAndrew.com.

Consider Energy Costs

As you make a comparison, consider energy costs. Today's new air conditioning systems are as much as sixty percent more efficient than systems manufactured ten years ago. So, if you are concerned about utility bills and are faced with an expensive repair, you may want to look at the energy savings that a new system offers.

The nature of the repair is also important. Repairs that require the replacement of system components may result in a mismatched system. Components that do not match can really compromise your comfort while shortening the lifespan of the compressor.

Two-Stage Cooling

Speaking of comfort, if repairs to an immediate problem will not address ongoing comfort issues, such as cold spots within the home, drafts, humidity issues or air quality concerns, it may be a good idea to consider installing a new system altogether.

Today's systems offer an array of new features, including two-stage cooling, humidifiers and ultraviolet lights that are designed to increase comfort and improve indoor air quality.

As you make the decision to repair or replace, rely on the expertise of a qualified contractor, who is licensed to maintain and service your system.

If replacing the system seems appropriate, he or she can explain the importance of efficiency and sound ratings, load calculations, comfort features, and warranties as you select a new system.

When you're ready to install a new system, consider the benefits of a new energy-efficient air conditioner or heat pump system such as the Acclimate Series from Luxaire Heating and Air Conditioning. Luxaire products are marketed by the Unitary Products Group of York, a Johnson Controls Company.

To learn more about energy-efficient HVAC products that ensure comfort, visit www.luxaire.com/acclimate or call 877-874-7378.

learn and appreciate the art of quilting.

The first New England Images quilt show was launched in 1983 at the Topsfield Fair for 12 days. Since then the Auxiliary of The New England Quilt Museum has produced Images (juried quilt show) and its many components.

The 4 day multi-venue event, featuring exhibitions, classes, workshops, lectures, auctions, appraisals, vendors and a variety of special receptions, is almost entirely volunteer run by members of the museum's auxiliary.

At Paul Tsongas Arena, major events include Images 2006, a juried show of nearly 200 quilts, special retrospective exhibitions that focus on quilt-makers Marilyn Belford of New York, who makes stunning realistic portraits, and Suzanne Knopp of Lowell, who has created a number of unique quilts in both the traditional and art styles.

Laura-Cater-Woods presents quilts created in response to Hurricane Katrina. The Art Bras exhibit, organized by The Way to Women's Wellness

Foundation, promotes breast cancer awareness through original art bras created by women throughout the United States.

PUPPET SHOWPLACE

TOT SCHEDULE

LYMAN ESTATE GUIDED TOURS

Historic New England is pleased to announce that the Lyman Estate Greenhouses in Waltham now offer guided tours on the first Wednesday of each month.

Visitors to the greenhouse can enjoy a tour with one of Historic New England's plant experts to learn about the historic plant materials, discover the history of the building, and hear about the Lyman family history. The Lyman greenhouse includes some of the oldest greenhouses still in active use in the country.

The 1804 graper contains grapes grown from cuttings taken in the 1880s from the royal greenhouses at Hampton Court. An 1820 greenhouse shelters 100 year old camellia trees that provide spectacular bloom from November through March.

Guided tours are on the hour from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m. Tours are $6 and Historic New England members are free. There is ample free parking. The Lyman Estate and Greenhouses are located at 185 Lyman Street in Waltham. The property is recognized as a National Historic Landmark because of its historical and cultural importance.

For more information call 781-891-1985, x. 244.
